No Social Security hike

President Barack Obama wants to provide another $250 per recipient bonus.

By STEPHEN OHLEMACHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. – There will be no cost of living increase for more than 50 million Social Security recipients next year, the first year without a raise since automatic adjustments were adopted in 1975, the government announced this morning.

Blame falling consumer prices. By law, cost of living adjustments are pegged to inflation, which is negative this year because of lower energy costs. Social Security payments, however, cannot go down.

Thursday's announcement comes a day after President Barack Obama called for a second round of $250 stimulus payments for seniors, veterans, retired railroad workers and people with disabilities.

The payments would match the ones issued to seniors earlier this year as part of the government's economic recovery package. The payments would be equal to about a 2 percent increase for the average Social Security recipient.

Social Security payments increased by 5.8 percent in January, the largest increase since 1982. The big increase was largely because of a spike in energy costs in 2008.

"Social Security is doing its job helping Americans maintain their standard of living," said Social Security Commissioner Michael J. Astrue.

Newest ethanol system in works

The facility near Madison will employ a variety of products to produce fuel.

By RICK STOUFFER

rstouffer@tribweb.com

A year ago, the bottom dropped out of America's ethanol industry when corn prices surged, lending for new plants nearly disappeared, and prices for gasoline fell sharply.

That combination negated ethanol's cost-advantage for consumers. A number of plant owners filed for bankruptcy.

Now experts say the industry is rebounding, and it could be the best time in years for a well-capitalized company, with deep-pocketed investors, to introduce a second-generation ethanol refinery.

Such a ground-breaking facility is being introduced today outside Madison.

Coskata Inc. will show a pilot plant that produces ethanol by burning anything containing carbon – not just corn.

"We are showing a successful scale-up using our process that runs on multiple materials and produces fuel-grade ethanol," said Wes Bolson, Warrenville, Ill.-based Coskata's business development and marketing manager.

Coskata's process – which uses a plasma torch that burns nearly as hot as the sun – was developed by the former Westinghouse Electric Corp. The torch vaporizes fuel placed in a device known as a gasifier.

Waltz Mill is home to Coskata's partner, Westinghouse Plasma Corp., now a unit of Calgary, Alberta Canada's Alter NRG Corp.

Corn, and to a lesser extent sugar cane, were the primary fuels used to power first-generation ethanol bio-refineries.

The Coskata process allows the use of virtually any carbon-based substance as varied as wood chips, landfill waste – even old tire – as feedstock.

Supporters of the plant, built on the grounds of successor Westinghouse Electric Co.'s Waltz Mill nuclear-services facility, point to its financial Workers soon will be back on the job at Flexsys America in Carroll Township. The company idled the plant in June because of low demand for its product.

CARROLL TOWNSHIP – Production at the Flexsys America plant in Carroll Township – idled since June – will resume by early November, the company announced.

All employees will be recalled, company spokeswoman Melissa Hammond said.

"Demand for Crystex insoluble sulfur has improved significantly since the first quarter of 2009," said Greta Senn, vice president of Crystex for Solutia.

"We look forward to welcoming back our employees and serving our customers. Restarting the plant will continue to ensure a steady and reliable supply of insoluble sulfur to our tire customers worldwide."

Solutia – the parent company of Flexsys – is the world's leading producer of chemicals for the rubber and tire industry.

Crystex insoluble sulfur prevents sulfur migration and is critical for the manufacture of quality radial tires.

Flexsys America is the world's leading supplier of chemicals to the rubber industry.

The plant's products play an essential role in the manufacturing of tires and other rubber products, such as belts, hoses, seals and footwear.

In mid-April, the company announced plans to shut down the plant, temporarily laying off all but a handful of employees by June.

> "Restarting the plant will continue to ensure a steady and reliable supply of insoluble sulfur to our tire customers worldwide."
> GRETA SENN, SOLUTIA

An unspecified number of employees were laid off as a result of a decreased demand for the company's rubber-based product, used primarily to increase the life span of tires, Hammond said at the time.

At the time, the company called the layoffs "temporary" and vowed to resume production when demand returned.

The company declined to indicate how many people are affected, saying there are "less than 100" working at the local plant located along Route 481.

The plant was opened in 1954 by Stauffer Chemical. In 1985, Chesebrough-Ponds purchased the building.

In 1987, the building was sold three times. It first went to Unilever. Then the division was sold to ICI. Akzo Chemicals subsequently bought the facility.

In 1993, Akzo Chemicals merged with Nobel, as Akzo Nobel. In 1995, Akzo Nobel and Monsanto began a joint venture, which became Flexsys America. Monsanto spun off its own rubber chemicals into a business and that was named Solutia. In late 2007, Solutia bought Flexsys America.

Companywide, more than 1,000 are employed at 20 sites worldwide.

Failed relationship costly to Monessen

A former greeter escorts a senior boy around Monessen High School.

By STACY WOLFORD

swolford@tribweb.com

MONESSEN – A teen relationship gone sour involving two Monessen High School students turned even uglier after both sides were granted Protection from Abuse orders.

The situation left Monessen School District officials worried about keeping the boy and the girl safe.

The school board in August hired Anthony Angotti to serve as a greeter but then assigned him to work as an escort to accompany the male high school senior involved in the dispute.

In a protection from abuse order, a judge instructs a person to stop a certain course of conduct or face serious legal consequences. It offers civil legal protection to both female and male victims.

Superintendent Dr. Cynthia Chelen said Angotti is paid $7.25 an hour to accompany the boy throughout the school day.

"We felt this was the best way to make sure there is a safe environment," Chelen said.

Chelen said district officials also wanted to try to keep both students in school so their respective education or future plans would not be affected.

Chelen said she worked with both families over the summer to resolve their issues. The PFA orders – which expired Oct. 9 – required both students to stay at least 10 yards away from each other.

Chelen said even though the court orders expired, the district will continue to have the male student be escorted during the school day.

She said the escort does not accompany the boy to school-sponsored, extracurricular activities and events but added that chaperones and staff are aware of the situation and monitor the two students' actions.

House sends anti-nuke message to Iran leaders

Investment in international corporations could be curtailed

By The Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The House on Wednesday sent a message to Iran that pursuit of nuclear capability will not go unpunished, approving legislation that allows state and local governments to curtail investments in international corporations doing business in Iran's energy sector.

The legislation also protects from shareholder lawsuits those investment managers who divest funds from companies that are involved in Iran's energy sector or have provided equipment for the transport of oil or liquefied natural gas from Iran.

The bill passed the House 414-6 and now goes to the Senate.

The bill does not impose new sanctions, said its author, Financial Services Committee Chairman Barney Frank, D-Mass.

"What it does is to make it very clear that Americans who are deeply concerned about the prospect of Iranian nuclear power, and other aspects of Iranian governance, that they are able to act on those (concerns)," he said.

"Several international firms continue to subsidize Iran's nuclear ambitions by investing billions of dollars in the regime's energy sector," said Rep. Mark Kirk, R-Ill., a co-sponsor. "This legislation gives a strong 'go signal' to state and local leaders around America to get out of Iran."

Lawmakers in both the House and Senate have clamored for the imposition of tougher sanctions on Iran since it was revealed that the Tehran government was operating a previously undisclosed uranium enrichment facility near the holy city of Qom.

Iranian officials have pledged to the United States and five other world powers that the plant would be opened to U.N. inspectors and that Iran would ship low enriched uranium out of the country to show it is not seeking to develop nuclear weapons.

But lawmakers question whether Iran can be trusted.

The difficulty of coming up with a common approach on new sanctions was highlighted Wednesday when Russian Prime Minister Vladimir Putin, speaking to reporters in Beijing, said talking about sanctions against Iran could disrupt negotiations with Tehran regarding its nuclear program.

The House bill, which passed in similar form twice in the past two years, makes clear that the federal government will not interfere – citing its sole authority to determine foreign policy – when states or local governments decide to divest themselves of investments in an organization that has spent $20 million in Iran's energy sector.

Frank said about 20 states have enacted legislation to cut investment ties to corporations associated with Iran.

International tax dodgers take offer

Untaxed money was being hidden on every continent but Antarctica.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Some 7,500 international tax dodgers have applied for an amnesty program that promises no jail time and reduced penalties for tax cheats who come forward, the Internal Revenue Service announced Wednesday.

The tax dodgers were hiding money in more than 70 countries and on every continent except Antarctica. Accounts ranged from just over $10,000 to more than $100 million.

Response to the program has been unprecedented, IRS Commissioner Doug Shulman said.

"The whole idea of this program was to get people in and get them on the right side of the law," Shulman said.

The IRS long has had a policy that certain tax evaders who come forward before they are contacted by the agency usually can avoid jail time as long as they agree to pay back taxes, interest and hefty penalties. Drug dealers and money launderers need not apply. But if the money was earned legally, tax evaders can usually avoid criminal prosecution.

Fewer than 100 people apply for the program in a typical year, in part because the penalties can far exceed the value of the hidden account, depending on how long the account holder has evaded U.S. taxes.

In March, the IRS began a six-month amnesty program that sweetened the offer with reduced penalties for people with undeclared assets. The program was extended once, until Thursday. Shulman said it will not be extended again.

The program is part of a larger effort by the Obama administration to crack down on Americans who evade U.S. taxes by hiding assets in overseas accounts. In August, the U.S. and Switzerland resolved a court case in which Swiss banking giant UBS AG agreed to turn over details on 4,450 accounts suspected of holding undeclared assets from American customers.

Shulman said the IRS is stepping up efforts to track the flow of illicit money from Europe to Asia, Central America and the Caribbean.

backers as proof that its process is a winner.

Among the backers are General Motors Co.; venture-capital company Khosla Ventures, founded and led by Sun Microsystems Inc. founder Vinod Khosla; and the investment giant The Blackstone Group. The $30 million bio-refinery was built entirely with private funds, Coskata said.

"General Motors, Khosla Ventures and the Blackstone Group – that's the stamp of validation," said Todd Alexander, a partner in the New York office of law firm Chadbourne & Parke LLP, who specializes in renewable energy.

Coskata Chief Executive Officer Bill Roe said that depending on what fuel is used, his process will produce ethanol for less than $1 a gallon – with all production costs included – vs. the current average price for gasoline in western Pennsylvania that sells in the $2.50 a gallon range.

Using nonfood fuels to produce ethanol is the industry's Holy Grail, said Alexander, adding that producing the fuel for less than $1.50 a gallon could key tens of billions of dollars in investment in such a low-cost process.

Coskata said he plans to license its process to interested customers.

"We believe we have the lowest production costs of any ethanol ever produced, and the reason is the varied feedstocks we can use in our process," Roe said.

Roe, though, admits that financial markets still aren't embracing the ethanol industry. Investors are waiting for a success exhibited by a refiner that has grown beyond using corn.

"There will be a lot of investment in second-generation, noncorn-based ethanol refineries," Alexander said.

But, he added, "In light of the human need, we need to support President Obama's call for us to make another $250 recovery payment for 57 million Americans."

The Labor Department reported today that consumer prices had declined 2.1 percent from July through September compared to the same period a year ago. The cost-of-living adjustment for Social Security is based on the change in consumer prices from the third quarter of one year to the next.

The lack of a cost of living increase triggers several provisions in the law. Among them, the amount of wages subject to Social Security payroll taxes will remain unchanged. The first $106,800 of a worker's earned income is currently subject to the tax.

Also, Medicare Part B premiums for the vast majority of Social Security recipients will remain frozen at 2009 levels. However, premiums for the Medicare prescription drug program, known as Part D, will increase.

Obama called on Congress Wednesday to approve the second round of stimulus payments, and several key lawmakers said they would.

"This additional assistance will be especially important in the coming months, as countless seniors and others have seen their retirement accounts and home values decline as a result of this economic crisis," Obama said in a statement.

The $250 payments would go to Social Security recipients as well as those receiving veterans or disability benefits, railroad retirees, and retired public employees who don't receive Social Security. Recipients would be limited to one payment, even if they qualified for more.

The White House put the cost of the payments at $13 billion. Obama said he would not allow the money to come out of the Social Security trust funds, which would further erode the finances of the retirement program. Social Security already is projected to pay out more in benefits than it collects in taxes in each of the next two years.

However, Obama did not offer any alternatives to finance the payments. A senior administration official said Obama was open to borrowing the money, increasing the federal budget deficit. The official, who requested anonymity, was not authorized to speak on the record.

Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid, D-Nev., said he supports sending out another round of payments, as did Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, which has jurisdiction over Social Security in the House.

House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif., said she would work to "help seniors, veterans, and people with disabilities hit by the worst economy since the Great Depression."

Other lawmakers said seniors shouldn't get the extra payments because the formula doesn't call for it.

"I think it would be inappropriate," said Sen. Judd Gregg, R-N.H. "The reason we set up this process was to have the Social Security reimbursement reflect the cost of living."

The average monthly Social Security payment for all Social Security recipients is $1,094.

Mon City honors 2 policemen

MONONGAHELA – City council paid homage Wednesday night to two police officers who risked their lives to save three people from a fire and an explosion that demolished two buildings in the city Sept. 6.

Mayor Bob Kepics gave certificates of appreciation to city patrolman Bill Fusco and Carroll Township officer John Korcek during council's monthly meeting.

The two officers were first to respond to the devastating fire that struck the 200 block of Main Street in the early-morning hours of Sept. 6. The fire, which was accompanied by a large explosion, ruined two buildings and caused extensive damages to a third structure.

Police Chief Brian Tempest praised both officers, saying they came upon the fire and immediately went inside the structure without concern for their own safety.

"It was a very dangerous situation," Tempest said. "Within seconds of these officers coming out of that building, there was an explosion. So they were literally seconds from being in that explosion."

Three tenants were saved as a result

Mon Valley memories are thriving in Florida

Ron PAGLIA

Clyde Behanna has been gone from the Mid-Mon Valley for many years, but his recollections of living here remain strong.

Behanna, who now resides in Osprey, Fla., was born in Donora in 1930 in the home next door to his grandparents, George and Louise Behanna, at Waddell Avenue and Second Street.

"They lived in the small house on the corner," Behanna said. "Second Street ended there at that time; there was no extension. The house is still there and is owned, I believe, by the Perry family that had the fruit and vegetable market downtown. The home I was born in was owned by the Polachek family. As a child, I also lived around the corner from Rosie Bier's store in a house we rented from the Chatlaks."

In addition to the memorable aromas and penny candy at Rosie Bier's, Behanna recalled a cobbler named DeFelicis who had a shop "just up the street" from the store.

The Behanna family moved to Gallatin when Clyde was still a young boy, but he spent "a great deal of time in Donora as my dad worked for US Steel and we did most of our shopping there."

"The names that have been mentioned in previous articles about Donora brought back so many pleasant memories of a town built on blood, swear, tears and a lot of pride," Behanna, 79, said. "Though I did not go to school in Donora, I have many friends who did."

Behanna vividly remembers such places as the Spur Station at the corner of Meldon and Seventh, where "I could fill up my 1937 Chevy for less than $4."

It was located across the street from Zeffiro's and the Chevrolet garage and there was an Esso station nearby, he said.

"The main gate for the wire mill also was there," Behanna said. "And there were all the ethnic clubs in town. There were so many places to hang out on Friday and Saturday nights that it was sometimes a tough decision as to where to go. And Monessen, Monongahela and Charleroi had even more selections. Sometimes we spent so much time trying to decide that it was too late to go anywhere."

Behanna also recalled that there were three movie theatres in Donora.

"When I was very young, we usually wound up going to the double features at the old Princess at Sixth and McKean or the Liberty at the other end of town," he

Washington Twp. set to review zoning regs

Vote comes after residents complain about 43-year-old ordinances.

By JEFF PIKULSKY

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP – The board of supervisors Wednesday unanimously voted to review the community's zoning ordinances.

The vote came after some residents complained about the size of a large garage recently built on Koslasky Street.

Zoning officer Tim Naulty and Supervisor Jamie Miller said the structure was within the township's requirements for use as a storage facility in a residential neighborhood.

The residents submitted a petition calling for a change in storage structure size restrictions and argued that having a warehouse-sized building near their homes is an eyesore that will diminish their property values.

Resident Susan Lape, a former zoning board member, said the supervisors should not dictate the types of structures residents build on their properties as long as they comply with zoning and use requirements.

"Nobody here had a complaint until something went up in their own neighborhood," Lape said.

Miller said the zoning ordinance in question and many others on the books were established in 1966.

"What's wrong with our township? Forty three years and you are still following the same rules and regulations?" asked resident Gloria Yuschak.

"With this petition, we will look into this," Miller said.

Naulty said the zoning map he uses also is from 1966, and it is poorly marked.

He asked the board to

William F. Bova
Monongahela

William F. Bova, 68, of Monongahela, died on Tuesday, Oct.13, 2009, at UPMC Mercy Hospital of Pittsburgh. He was born Friday, Oct. 18,1940, in New Eagle, the son of the late Andy and Jeanette (Dominick) Bova. Bill retired from Combustion Engineering where he was a shipper in Building No. 3. Bill was a Christian man of strong faith who found much joy from reading the love letters from his wife Betty. He had a passion for working with stained glass, woodburning and crafting . He loved to travel and visit his children; he also enjoyed fishing. He was a veteran, serving with the U.S. Marine Corps. He received the Good Conduct Medal, Sharpshooter Rifle M-1 and Marksman Pistol .45 ribbons. In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by a sister, Elizabeth "Libby" Ciccone; three brothers, James Bova, Andy "Gumps" Bova and Charles "Chuck" Bova. Richard Lee Sabatini
Fallowfield Twp.

Richard Lee Sabatini, 74, of Fallowfield Township, passed away Tuesday, Oct. 13, 2009. Born May 7, 1935, a son of the late Oscar and Edith Morris Sabatini, he was preceded in death by his wife, Donna Sabatini. He is survived by his children: Rick (Cathy) Sabatini of Humble, Texas; Ron (Stephanie) Sabatini of Murrieta, Ga.; Terri Sabatini (Pete Cupari) of Fallowfield Township; and Dan (Melissa) Sabatini of Belle Vernon; his grandchildren: Nicole Sabatini of Fullerton, Calif.; Angela (Morgan) Knight of Kingwood, Texas; Ricky Sabatini of Humble, Texas; a great-grandson, Preston Knight of Kingwood, Texas; and an aunt, Anna Mary (Louis) Marra of Belle Vernon. Better known as "Dick" by those that loved him, he was a U.S. Marine Corps veteran of the Korean War, a retired Teamster of 20 years, a life member of the Fallowfield Township Fire Department, the Charleroi American Legion Post 22, the Otters Club and served as the financial secretary of the Charleroi Sportsman's Club. Anyone who knew Dick would attest to his avid love of tractors, and his garage is a testament to that collection. Dick continued to support the St. Judes Children's Hospital every month. In honor of Dick, in lieu of flowers, donations may be made to St. Judes. Dick will be greatly missed by all. Friends will be received Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. in the FERGUSON FUNERAL HOME AND CREMATORY, INC., 700 Broad Ave., Belle Vernon (724-929-5300), www.FergusonFuneralHomeAndCrematory.com. Funeral services will be in the funeral home Saturday at 10 a.m., with the Rev. Suzanne Currie officiating. Interment will follow in Belle Vernon Cemetery.

In Memory Of
Suzanne Miller

In loving memory of our beloved daughter and sister, Suzanne Miller, who passed away 14 years ago today, October 15, 1995.

Little did we know that morning the sorrow the day would bring, the end was sudden, the shock severe, to part with you, the one we loved so dear. We did not know the pain you had or hear your final sigh, we only know that you had left us without a last goodbye. In life we loved you dearly in death we do the same, many a lonely heartache after a lonely tear. You have passed beyond our love and care, but not beyond our thoughts and prayers. When days are dark and friends are few, dearly beloved, how we long for you.

Sadly missed and loved by her Dad, Mother, Sister, Brother and Families.

California police probing shooting incident near bar

CALIFORNIA – Police are looking for a man who fired shots near a popular bar near California University of Pennsylvania early this morning.

Police were called to McMonagles Bar around 1:51 this morning, after a fight allegedly broke out in the bar and spilled out onto the roadway and into the parking lot at California Manor.

Witnesses said several shots were fired in the parking lot.

When police arrived, they were greeted with a chaotic scene of about 200 people "running around in the area."

The shooter was described as a black male with dread-locks, wearing a white T-shirt with a red long-sleeve shirt underneath and blue jeans.

There were no reports of any injuries.

Police said the investigation is continuing as several witnesses have provided statements.

Anyone who witnessed the incident is asked to call police at (724) 938-3233.

Bentleyville man subdued, jailed on multiple charges

For The Valley Independent

A Bentleyville man is being held in the Fayette County Prison after an altercation with a state trooper in which he was subdued with a Taser.

Christopher Stevan Roseman, 30, is charged with aggravated assault; disarming a law enforcement officer; resisting arrest or other law enforcement; receiving stolen property; firearms not to be carried without a license; simple assault; person not to possess, use, sell, transfer a firearm; manufacture, deliver, possession with intent to manufacture and deliver; use/possession of drug paraphernalia; tampering with physical evidence; criminal mischief; and motor vehicle violations.

State police at Belle Vernon said the incident began during a traffic stop just after 1:15 p.m. Tuesday at Sixth Avenue and Church Street in Brownsville.

Police reported that as Trooper Steven Walters found evidence to arrest Roseman for drug charges, Roseman became combative, assaulted Walters and attempted to grab the trooper's firearm from its holster.

Roseman ignored Walters' commands to stop and tried to leave with a backpack he retrieved from his Chevrolet Lumina, according to police. Walters used a Taser, pepper spray and his baton to subdue Roseman.

Roseman was arraigned Tuesday before Connellsville District Judge Ronald Haggerty., who set bond at $50,000.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Monday.

St. Vincent president quitting

By JENNIFER REEGER
For The Valley Independent
jreeger@tribweb.com

Jim Towey

St. Vincent College President Jim Towey will step down from the position he's held since 2006.

Towey said Wednesday he has accomplished all he set out to do at St. Vincent and decided to announce his resignation now to give the college time to find a replacement.

"I came as a stranger to academia, and my view was there were things I wanted to accomplish here," Towey said. "I didn't come to stay. I came to make a difference."

The news came as a bit of a surprise to faculty members but was not shocking, said associate professor Matt Fisher, president of St. Vincent's faculty council and chairman of the chemistry department.

"All faculty recognize, in higher education today, presidents don't stay for an extended period of time," Fisher said, noting the two presidents preceding Towey stayed for five and six years.

Towey, 53, will depart in June after four years on the job.

Towey, the former director of the White House Office of Faith-based and Community Initiatives under President George W. Bush, has supporters and detractors on campus.

"There were some individuals that viewed him favorably and others that have significant differences with how he went about his job," Fisher said.

During Towey's tenure, the Benedictine liberal arts college near Latrobe has raised more than $35 million and is undertaking the largest building project in its history — the $30 million Sis and Herman Dupre Science Pavilion.

The Fred Rogers Center and the renovation of Headmasters Hall were completed during Towey's presidency. And the Chuck Noll Field football facility and new artificial turf field for students were planned and built over the past three years.

The college has had record levels of enrollment and three consecutive waiting lists for admission. The number of students studying overseas has nearly tripled since Towey arrived.

Towey has accompanied students on annual mission trips to Calcutta, India, where they worked in the homes for the dying founded by Mother Teresa, whom Towey had served as legal counsel.

"The most edifying work has been with the students," Towey said. "I just love being around them.

"These are great men and women. It's fun to watch them grow."

His tenure has not been without controversy, however.

When President Bush came to speak at St. Vincent's commencement in 2007, some faculty, students and alumni were upset by the choice, saying Bush's policies did not fit with the college's Benedictine mission.

In 2008, 31 of the college's 44 tenured faculty members signed a letter expressing "grave concern for the current state of the college" because of Towey's leadership.

Lazard CEO Wasserstein dies at 61

NEW YORK (AP) - Bruce Wasserstein, the CEO of Lazard Ltd. and a prominent Wall Street dealmaker who helped negotiate some of the largest corporate takeovers in history, died Wednesday. He was 61.

The death of the driving force behind Lazard raises questions about the future of one of Wall Street's top mergers and acquisitions advisory firms.

Wasserstein was hospitalized earlier this week for an irregular heartbeat, with the company saying Sunday his condition was serious but he was "stable and recovering." In a statement Wednesday, Lazard's board said the cause of death had not yet been determined.

The New York-based firm named Vice Chairman Steven J. Golub as interim CEO, effective immediately. Golub, 63, has been with Lazard since 1984 and served in various senior leadership positions, including as CFO and chairman of Lazard's financial advisory business.

But some say Lazard's success was so tied to Wasserstein that the company could face a tough road ahead.

"Mr. Wasserstein was the main driver that created Lazard as a public company," Rochdale Securities analyst Richard Bove said. "He forced the expansion of the business and his contacts brought in deals."

Today is Thursday, Oct. 15, the 288th day of 2009. There are 77 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight

On Oct. 15, 1969, peace demonstrators staged activities across the country, including a candlelight march around the White House, as part of a "moratorium" against the Vietnam War.

On this date:

■ In 1858, the seventh and final debate between senatorial candidates Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas took place in Alton, Ill.

■ In 1860, 11-year-old Grace Bedell of Westfield, N.Y., wrote a letter to presidential candidate Abraham Lincoln, suggesting he could improve his appearance by letting his whiskers grow.

■ In 1914, the Clayton Antitrust Act was signed into law by President Woodrow Wilson.

■ In 1917, Dutch dancer Mata Hari, convicted of spying for the Germans, was executed by a French firing squad outside Paris.

■ In 1928, the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin landed in Lakehurst, N.J., completing its first commercial flight across the Atlantic.

■ In 1945, the former premier of Vichy France, Pierre Laval, was executed for treason.

■ In 1946, Nazi war criminal Hermann Goering fatally poisoned himself hours before he was to have been executed.

■ In 1964, it was announced that Soviet leader Nikita S. Khrushchev had been removed from office.

■ In 1976, in the first debate of its kind between vice-presidential nominees, Democrat Walter F. Mondale and Republican Bob Dole faced off in Houston.

■ In 2003, 11 people were killed when a Staten Island ferry slammed into a maintenance pier. (The ferry's pilot, who'd blacked out at the controls, later pleaded guilty to 11 counts of manslaughter and was sentenced to 18 months in prison.)

■ Ten years ago: The humanitarian group Doctors Without Borders was named winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.

■ Five years ago: The FDA ordered that all antidepressants carry strong warnings that they "increase the risk of suicidal thinking and behavior" in children who take them.

■ One year ago: Republican John McCain repeatedly assailed Democrat Barack Obama's character and campaign positions on taxes, abortion and more in a debate at Hofstra University in New York State; Obama parried each accusation, and leveled a few of his own, saying "100 percent" of McCain's campaign ads were negative.

A public health nurse fills a syringe with the H1N1 vaccine prior to a Wednesday news conference at City Hall in Richmond, Va., where the mayor received his vaccination. The Richmond Public School System used the event to announce the start of the vaccination program for students in the city system. Test results of its swine flu vaccine suggest that children under 10 are likely to need two shots to be fully protected.

Two swine flu vaccine doses suggested for kids under 10

Manufacturer says tests indicate that's best way to protect youngsters.

By MARILYNN MARCHIONE
AP Medical Writer

Test results of its swine flu vaccine suggest that children under 10 are likely to need two shots to be fully protected, vaccine maker Sanofi Pasteur said Wednesday.

Federal officials said the news is not surprising, since this age group needs two doses of regular seasonal flu vaccine the very first time they ever are given a flu vaccine for full immunity to develop.

The new Sanofi results back up what government tests are showing, said Dr. Anthony Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases. For younger children, the protection from one shot is "modest but not sufficient to allow for one dose to do the trick," he said.

Sanofi is the only company licensed in the United States to make vaccine for children as young as 6 months old. The company tested two strengths of the vaccine, given as two shots 21 days apart. The vaccine was tested in 474 children ages 6 months through 9 years old.

Only half of children 6 months to 3 years old had enough protection after one shot of the higher strength vaccine, as did three-fourths of children 3 to 9 years old, Sanofi reported.

For adults, one shot of the higher strength vaccine appears to be enough, Sanofi reported earlier.

Another option for people without medical problems is FluMist, a nasal spray vaccine. It is approved for healthy people 2 to 49 years old. The nasal spray accounts for most of the vaccine available now, although shots are starting to make their way to states. Pregnant women and young children are among the groups most urged to seek the vaccine as soon as it is available.

Consumers showing signs of life

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Consumers may be slowly regaining their appetite to shop, as the prices they encounter in stores remain low.

One benefit of the recession is that inflation is nowhere to be seen, as consumer prices have barely grown in months.

Rising unemployment, stagnant wages and tight credit have restrained consumer demand, making it difficult for retailers to raise prices.

Most economists expect that pattern to continue when the Labor Department later today reports the September Consumer Price Index. Economists forecast that consumer prices rose just 0.2 percent in September, after a 0.4 percent gain in August and a flat reading in July.

In the past year, consumer prices are forecast to have fallen 1.4 percent, according to a survey of Wall Street economists by Thomson Reuters. Excluding the volatile food and energy categories, the "core" CPI is projected to have ticked up 0.1 percent in September and 1.4 percent in the past year.

Separately, economists believe new claims for jobless benefits likely rose slightly last week to 525,000.

First-time claims, a gauge of recent layoffs, fell by more than 30,000 in the prior week to their lowest level since early January.

The Labor Department is forecast to report today that the number of people continuing to claim benefits dropped to 6.01 million from 6.04 million.

The reports come as consumers are showing some signs of life.

Retail sales fell in September due to a sharp drop in auto sales, according to a government report Wednesday.

But excluding autos, sales rose 0.5 percent in September. That was better than analysts expected and followed a 1 percent gain in August.

Dems finalizing health care bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials and Senate Democrats are meeting in private to iron out differences on a health care overhaul that could affect every American.

In public, they're united by a common enemy - the health insurance industry.

The inside game and the outside game are intersecting on Capitol Hill, with Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid testifying at a public hearing in favor of revoking health insurers' antitrust exemption — then huddling behind closed doors with White House chief of staff Rahm Emanuel and committee chairmen to finalize the bill.

With negotiations set to continue through the week, some Democrats were hoping that health insurers had actually done the overhaul drive a favor by going on the attack in recent days with two reports slamming health legislation in the Senate.

Unlike doctors, health insurers aren't winning any popularity contests. And the rollout of a report commissioned by America's Health Insurance Plans, warning that health care premiums would rise under a Senate health care bill, was seen as ham-handed since the findings were quickly shot down by a range of critics.

Air force missile chief ousted

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — The missile wing commander at North Dakota's Minot Air Force Base was relieved of his command Wednesday after a series of missteps at the unit, including two crashes of vehicles carrying missile parts in just more than a year.

Col. Christopher Ayres was not ousted for any misconduct or wrongdoing, but the Air Force said it had lost confidence in his ability to command the base's 91st Missile Wing given recent incidents, which also included three ballistic missile crew members falling asleep while holding classified launch code devices.

The 91st Missile Wing oversees 150 Minuteman III missiles, sunk in hardened silos, in central and western North Dakota.

"It comes down to performance and accountability," said Air Force spokeswoman Laurie A. Arellano. "With nuclear weapons, our nation expects no less than perfection."

A Wednesday call to the base to reach Ayres was not returned.

Foreclosures rising in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of households caught up in the foreclosure crisis rose more than 5 percent from summer to fall as a federal effort to assist struggling borrowers was overwhelmed by a flood of defaults among people who lost their jobs.

The foreclosure crisis affected nearly 938,000 properties in the July-September quarter, compared with about 890,000 in the prior three months, according to a report released Thursday by RealtyTrac Inc. That puts foreclosure-related filings on a pace to hit about 3.5 million this year, up from more than 2.3 million last year.

Unemployment is the main reason homeowners are falling into trouble. While the economy is likely out of recession, the unemployment rate — now at a 26-year high of 9.8 percent — isn't expected to peak until the middle of next year.

Mortgage companies sometimes allow unemployed homeowners to defer three to six months of payments while they are looking for a job, but there's little else they can do.

'PENNSYLVANIA CASH 5'

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Today's "Pennsylvania Cash 5" jackpot will be worth at least $350,000 because no player matched the five winning numbers drawn in Wednesday's game.

Lottery officials said 71 players matched four numbers and won $313.50 each; 2,927 players matched three numbers and won $12.50 each; and 37,819 players matched two numbers and won $1 each.

The winning numbers in Wednesday evening's drawing of the Pennsylvania Lottery's "Cash 5" game were: 08-22-26-36-39

OUR OPINION

Health reform? Who's smoking what?

More often than not, we have to wonder what kind of smokes are being shared by those who make the sausage in Washington and those who report the sausage's supposed content. Take, for instance, the just-passed Senate Finance Committee measure to "remake" health care.

The $829 billion bill was touted as "a critical milestone" by President Obama. Among its supposed "high points" - providing health insurance to millions of uninsured Americans.

But there are a few salient facts that seem to elude The Great American Sound Bite and stenographers posing as "journalists."

First, this bill has about as much chance of actually receiving serious consideration by the full Senate as Jon & Kate (of Plus 8 fame) have of reconciling. Second, and far worse, the measure is nothing more than a legislative lie.

As the Pacific Research Institute's Jeffrey H. Anderson reminds, budgetary gimmicks make the measure appear palatable in the first decade but costs explode in the second to $2.8 trillion. Cuts to already existing federal health programs, Medicare included, would be $1.9 trillion.

"In the first two decades combined, the bill would cost $3.6 trillion and would raise taxes by $2.3 trillion," writes Mr. Anderson, citing Congressional Budget Office numbers.

And this is what "progressives" bill as progress? One giant leap for health care "reform"?

Consider it dead on arrival.

The drilling question

Having bought the unsubstantiated arguments of global-warming alarmists, the Obama administration is all too likely to be swayed by politicized science regarding offshore oil and gas drilling.

Ocean scientists with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration want the Interior Department to ban offshore drilling in the Arctic and much of the Atlantic coast and Gulf of Mexico.

Though informal and nonbinding, NOAA's recommendations are sharply critical of a Bush-era offshore leasing plan that Interior Secretary Ken Salazar is considering altering.

So where does science end and politics begin?

NOAA's concerns are drilling's effects on marine life, plus potential damage from and ability to clean up spills. But how deeply are those concerns genuinely rooted in hard, objective science, not science bent to support a political agenda? And who can be trusted to make that distinction?

Climate scientists' willingness to twist data to fit preordained conclusions -- and this administration's willingness to take such "experts" at their word -- should put Interior, and Congress, on guard about NOAA's recommendations.

The proper balance between energy and environment won't be struck with extremists' thumbs weighting the scales against authentic science.

Abortion lies come as no surprise

Kathryn LOPEZ

Rep. Joe Wilson of South Carolina was wrong to blurt out "You lie!" during a presidential health care pitch before a joint session of Congress in September. That is: civility and propriety required a different approach, at a different time. But the fact of the matter is: The White House does frequently, in fact, tell something other than the truth, especially if abortion is involved.

One of the more recent examples of this habit of deception came from presidential spokesman Robert Gibbs, during one of his daily press conferences. A reporter referred to a letter from the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops, addressed to lawmakers: "So far the health reform bills considered in the committee, including the new Senate Finance Committee bill, have not met the president's challenge of barring the use of federal dollars for abortion." The reporter asked: "Is that statement wrong?"

Gibbs responded: "Well, I don't want to get me in trouble at church, but I would mention there's a law that precludes the use of federal funds for abortion. That isn't going to be changed in these health care bills."

The reporter pressed: "There have been, though, several amendments that would explicitly bar abortions, that would therefore reject it."

Gibbs insisted: "Again, there's a fairly well documented federal law that prevents it."

Gibbs was being dishonest. He was clearly talking about the Hyde Amendment, a 1976 provision that bans federal funding of abortions for Medicaid recipients; it was attached as a rider on a Medicaid allocation bill. The reporter and the bishops, of course, were not talking about appropriations bills. They were focused on the health-care reform revolution upon which President Obama has set so much of his reputation.

During that speech to Congress, the president declared, "Under our plan, no federal dollars will be used to fund abortions." There are problems with that statement however. One of them is that there is no one plan. The White House did not submit a bill to Congress, it left it to committees in the House and Senate to craft multiple bills. The White House has not endorsed a single plan over another among those floating around the Hill. And, as you can read in the New York Times — certainly not an organ of the anti-abortion movement — "Mr. Obama has promised for months that the health care overhaul would not provide federal money to pay for elective abortions, but White House officials have declined to spell out what he means."

The president has repeatedly and vehemently dismissed concerns and criticisms from the likes of the bishops about abortion and his health-care campaign, even invoking the tablets from Mount Sinai when he announced during a phone call with left-wing religious leaders: "I know there's been a lot of misinformation in this debate, and there are some folks out there who are, frankly, bearing false witness, but I want everyone to know what health insurance reform is all about."

The White House and its allies are hiding behind Hyde, named after a late Republican congressman from Illinois who was considered a legislative hero by much of the pro-life movement. But the Obama administration does so disingenuously.

If the so-called "public option" plan or "affordability credits," which are premium subsidies, come to pass, abortion funding will be very much on the table, and possibly part of the law. In fact, in an amendment added to the predominant House bill, federal funding for abortion is explicitly required in the credits scenario. As the National Right to Life Committee has explained: "All of the types of funds that would be expended by both proposed federal programs would be federal government funds and public funds. Many of those who are mischaracterizing these funds as 'private funds' are attempting to distort an important public policy debate by employing inaccurate terminology in a manner that would not be accepted by the news media if the question involved federal agencies and programs unrelated to abortion."

The credits have nothing to do with the Hyde Amendment. And even if they did, the Hyde Amendment requires annual reauthorization. There's no guarantee of that in this Congress — a Congress in which the speaker all but gives the cold shoulder to even members of her own party who are concerned about these questions about abortion and the health-carepalooza.

Joe Wilson apologized for his outburst. When will the White House show a little respect?

That Obama's White House would mislead Americans in this way is no surprise. We were, in fact, warned. Back when Obama was running for president, his campaign protested the "outrageous lies" being told about his record as a state senator, when he advocated against a law that would protect the lives of infants who survived abortions in Illinois. The campaign insisted, "The suggestion that Obama — the proud father of two little girls — and others who opposed these bills supported infanticide is deeply offensive and insulting. There is no room for these kinds of distortions and lies in this campaign." The campaign never managed to explain how the National Right to Life Committee, which had most extensively and prominently raised the points, was lying. It couldn't, because the facts were the facts (and nrlc.org lays them out extensively, then and now; yourhealthcare411.com from the Bioethics Defense Fund also does a thorough job). But the table-pounding worked to obscure the debate. And now the strategy is being repeated.

Joe Wilson apologized for his outburst. When will the White House show a little respect?

Time for budget cuts

YOUR OPINION

To the Editor:

Are you as disgusted with state and federal politics as I am?

Our country is so far in debt that soon we're going to be reduced to a Third World country. Fighting these wars in Iraq and Afghanistan — you don't see China, Russia and India wasting their men and money on wars that will never be resolved. It's more Vietnam, all over again.

Politicians are kowtowing to lobbyists and big contributors, selling our jobs off to other countries all under the guise of NAFTA.

Yes, folks, we've sold out for free trips, per diems, gourmet food and all the rest of the the lavish lifestyle. Bet they don't know what a loaf of bread or a gallon of milk costs.

Public servants? Ha! The only servants I see is the public. Carry the tax burden — my back is almost broken. How about yours?

Pennsylvania, with its huge body of politicians and aides, has a state budget that couldn't be resolved for months. I guess it took that long for lobbyists to go over it with a fine-tooth comb. It's just more taxes — business as usual.

Since the state can't be micro managed, why don't the politicians call in all the department heads — welfare, transportation, etc. — and cut every department by 10 percent across the board. Let them figure out where the cuts need to be made.

I'm sure there's enough fat and waste that can be trimmed, should it be staff, use of vehicles, cell phones, whatever it takes.

Just quit sucking and feeding off the public trough.

Hey brother, can you spare a dime? That might be our mantra in 2010, not "We need change."

have a new map made. He estimated the cost at about $10,000.

Supervisor Charles Yusko made a motion to search through the zoning regulations "line by line" to see what should be updated.

Yusko, Miller and Supervisor Joanne Latkanich all voted in favor.

Miller said the task would be expensive and take years to complete.

"We pay for somebody to do this. This isn't like I can stay on overtime or Yusko can stay on overtime and work on this," Miller told the audience. "You have to have people come in and work on this, and we're talking money.

"And money is going to be tight for the next few years ... I realize it needs changed, but I want you to understand that if we're going to do this, it's going to mean more money. And, if we have to reach out to you people, then we're going to reach out to you people."

In an unrelated matter, Miller said Fayette County Head Start has agreed to use part of the township social hall.

Miller said the program will pay $12,000 for 10 months and make repairs to the part of the building it uses, if needed.

The supervisors approved a refuse hauling contract with Fayette Waste, of Waltersburg, through 2011.

The company formerly had no contract and had been serving the township since 2007.

Because of frequent complaints, the supervisors had considered a new company.

But Miller said the service has improved and complaints have decreased considerably since the supervisors met with Fayette Waste owners.

The current monthly residential rate is $10.86 for regular customers and $9.75 for senior citizens.

Next year, rates will increase to $11.34 and $10.21, and in 2011, they will go up to $11.85 and $10.67, respectively.

The supervisors approved a refuse collection ordinance that allows commercial customers to continue negotiating individual contracts with companies of their choice.

At last month's meeting, the supervisors said they were considering an ordinance that would make one company responsible for all residential and commercial refuse in the township.

Solicitor Don McCue, at that time, said the supervisors would negotiate rates and fees for rental containers, according to the proposed ordinance.

After residents complained, the board decided not to change how commercial businesses contract for refuse disposal.

The supervisors said trick-or-treat will take place 2 to 5 p.m. Oct. 31.

Anyone wanting to participate should turn on their porch lights.

Resident Myron Sepitko said the veterans' committee needs two more veterans' names to complete a paver for the war memorial.

of the efforts of the two officers.

"It's miraculous that in a fire of that magnitude there were no injuries," said Councilman Thomas Caudill. "That's thanks to the efforts of these two fine officers."

Tempest added that the officers knew the parameters of the situation and still went inside the burning building.

"They knew there were people in there and they rushed right into a burning building," Tempest said.

Carroll Township Police Chief Paul Brand, who was in attendance at the meeting, said he was proud of the work of the two officers and also pleased with the working relationship that exists between his department and the city's police force.

In addition to honoring the two officers, the city expressed its appreciation to the city's emergency services coordinator, William Polonoli.

In a resolution, Polonoli was saluted for devoting a "number of consecutive hours of his time in an effort to coordinate the multiple emergency services required to contend with the disaster."

Polonoli also played a role in helping the city collect insurance proceeds and also file applications for reimbursement to the city for funds it was entitled to because of the fire.

As a reward, the city presented Polonoli with a stipend of $1,087 for his efforts.

In an unrelated matter, Caudill praised Tempest for his department's efforts in fighting the war on drugs.

Reading from a story published last week in The Valley Independent, Caudill remarked on the arrest of 25 suspected drug dealers so far this year by the police department.

"You're doing a great job," Caudill told Tempest.

Kepics noted that since he took office, 50 suspected drug dealers have been arrested in the city.

In other business, council announced:

- The city's Halloween parade will be held Oct. 28, starting at 6:30 p.m.
- Trick-or-Treat will be held 6-8 p.m. Oct. 31 and that the event will be held the same time in neighboring New Eagle and Finleyville.

said. "We sat up so close to the screen that we thought we could get powder burns or sword nicks when the action started."

One of his favorite recollections was watching a movie called "Frank Harmon of Michigan."

"That was on Sunday, Dec.7, 1941," Behanna said solemnly

"Dad came to pick us up and told us the at Japan had bombed Pearl Harbor. That didn't mean anything to a couple kids who had been no further than Pittsburgh their entire lives. It wasn't until years later that I understood and appreciated that infamous day in history."

The Harris Theatre between Sixth and Seventh streets on McKean Avenue was the "upscale" movie house in town and "even had a balcony."

Clyde's grandfather, George Behanna, was born in Carroll Township and his grandmother, Louse Fine Behanna, was a native of Floreffe.

His father, also named Clyde, was one of six children in the family. He began working for American Steel and Wire as a very young man - "perhaps 20."

He started in the brick gang and was head roller in the Blooming Mill when he retired.

His brother, Ralph, became a self-taught tool and die designer after moving to Akron, Ohio, in the mid-1930s.

Another brother, Clarence, and his family lived in Washington, Pa., where he worked for Hazel-Atlas Glass.

Their sister, Rosetta, married George Hilty, a successful civil attorney in Pittsburgh.

The youngest brother never left Donora, except for service with the Army during World War II.

"Most people knew him as BeeBee, the generator-starter guy," Clyde said.

"The shop, BeeBee Electric Service, is still operating on Meldon Avenue.

"My brother Bob was the second generation running the shop, but he is semi-retired and his son Kenny is in charge today."

Behanna's parents - his mother's maiden name was Natali and she was born and grew up in Gallatin - were marreid in 1929. They lived in Donora at various rentals before moving to Gallatin.

After living with his grandparents for a short time, Behanna's father built a small home on a piece of land given to him by the Natali family. They later moved to a "big old company house" at the intersection of Routes 906 and 31.

He remembers the Ripepi family that owned the Green Front Market as well as the Quattrone, Pascarella and Pelligrini families. He also noted that former football star Elmo Natali, who later coached on the high school and college levels, was a second cousin to his mother.

Behanna attended the old Sunnyside Elementary Schol that was located where the Gallatin-Sunnyside Fire Station now stands. He then attended and was graduated from Monessen High School "because there was no high school in our town at that time."

He received a bachelor of science degree in education from The Pennsylvania State University and drew his first teaching assignment at the original Elizabeth High School in Elizabeth. His major field of study was science - physics, to be specific - but he also taught history at times during his career.

"I stayed there for five years and helped open the new Elizabeth Forward High School on Route 48 before moving to Montgomery County, Maryland in 1959," he recalled.

Behanna's first wife was Rita Stofko, of Donora.

"She was a cousin to Jimmy Giannamore," Clyde said. "She was a great dancer. I have many fond memories of dancing with her at such places at St. John's Church, the Italian Club and the Falcons Hall as well as many other places throughout the Valley. We got married in 1951 and raised four children. She contracted lung cancer in 1988 and died in 1990."

Behanna remained in Montgomery County, where he taught for 30 years before retiring. He remarried and then moved to Osprey in 2000.

"We both have children in the Virginia, Washington, D.C., and Maryland areas, so we go north often," he said. "I trip to get to Pennsylvania once or twice a year to visit my brother, Bob, and his family and other relatives."

When he does return, it's a cinch Clyde Behanna will spend a good bit of time reminiscing about the proverbial "good old days ... times when life was so much more simple."

Spooky encounter for ghost walk host

Susan Bowers finds a mystery involving a photo and funeral card.

By CHRIS BUCKLEY
Staff Writer
cbuckley@tribweb.com

Jim Ference/The Valley Independent

Susan Bowers holds up a photo and funeral card for Sadie Patterson. Bowers, who conducts the annual "Ghosts of Monongahela Tour," says the items mysteriously appeared on a bookcase.

Susan Bowers has been telling other people's ghost stories for more than a decade.

But the Monongahela Area Historical Society president recently lived her own ghost story.

Bowers was working at the society's office at 230 West Main St. when she made an odd discovery — an old photograph and funeral card for Sadie Patterson, who died Aug. 20, 1892. She found them lying all alone on a bookcase, but Bowers had not pulled them out — and no one else did either.

"I was here by myself, but I felt I was not alone," said Bowers, who has made a name for herself and the historical society telling the city's ghost stories.

The building that now houses the historical society was built in 1871 as a drugstore and doctor's office for the Linn brothers. The alley still bears the Linn name.

Around 1900, it housed a steamship agency and an Italian-language bank operated by Vittorio Abbate. A faint sign on the alley side of the building still reads "Vittorio Abbate—biglietti maritime a Italia," which translated means "Victor Abbate—tickets to go by sea to Italy."

Bowers will continue her popular "The Ghosts of Monongahela" candlelight walk Oct 23-24. Sponsored by the Monongahela Area Historical Society, the two-hour walk, which is mapped out along the city's downtown, will begin this year at Chess Park, rather than at the library as in past years.

Reservations are required. Call (724) 258-2377.

In addition to a new starting point, Bowers will have some new stories on the tour this year.

At one house on Fourth Street, the image of a ghost dog has been seen at the top of the steps, Bowers said.

Another home on Thomas Street has been in the family for six generations. Some of past occupants appear to still live there, or so Bowers has been told. The footsteps of what is believed to be an old man are sometimes heard. Lights have mysteriously gone on and off and an image of a white lady has been seen floating in the house, Bowers said. Other images have been seen "gliding toward the front door like they're leaving, but they never do," Bowers said.

The historical society will host another seasonal event the following weekend. On Oct. 30-31, the historical society will host "Halloween Happening," which will feature a psychic and a palm reader along with tarot, angel and fairy readings.

"We hope to stir up some spirits here," Bowers said.

Bowers said she thinks the ghost tours have become so popular because they hit home for people of the Valley familiar with the city. She mixes history of Monongahela in with the stories, making it an educational event as well.

"A lot of people ask, 'Are these true stories?' and I tell them, 'Absolutely, as they were told to me,'" Bowers said.

She said many tour participants tell her they'll never be able to look at the city the same way.

"The true flavor of the town is captured by these stories," Bowers said.

Bowers said participants on the tour often tell her about their ghost sighting stories, which she has added to the tour over the years.

Bowers said she is even spooked by unexplained events. For example, one family sent her photos they took during one tour — which she said included what appeared to contain the face of a cat.

"I get scared real easy ... and I love it," Bowers said.

'Little Shop of Horrors' set

The Grand Theatre in Elizabeth will present "Little Shop of Horrors" this weekend.

A rock musical by composer Alan Menken and writer Howard Ashman, "Little Shop of Horrors," the play is about a strange plant that changes the lives of the people living and working at Mushnik's Florists.

The music, composed by Menken in the style of early 1960s rock and roll, doo-wop and early Motown, includes several show-stoppers including "Skid Row (Downtown)", "Somewhere That's Green" and "Suddenly, Seymour," as well as the title song.

Show times are 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and Oct. 23 and 24. Sunday matinees begin at 2 p.m. Tickets are $15 for adults, $13 for senior citizens and $10 for groups of 10 or more.

'Murder in the Knife Room' will open Cal U fall season

Who killed the Mysterious Host?

The Department of Theatre and Dance at California University will open its 2009 fall season with that question as first-year students present Jonathan Rand's "Murder in the Knife Room."

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Oct. 22, 23 and 24, with a 2 p.m. matinee on Oct. 24. All performances are in the Gerald and Carolyn Blaney Theatre, a "black box" theater in Steele Hall on the Cal U campus.

Directed by Dr. Michele Pagen, a professor in the Department of Theatre and Dance, this spoof of the murder-mystery genre takes place in the knife room of a mansion.

There the Omniscient Inspector questions the Respected General, the Wealthy Dowager and other suspects in an attempt to solve this "thrilling and baffling murder case."

Murder in the Knife Room marks the 14th annual first-year student show at Cal U.

All performances are open to the public. Cost is $10 for adults, $9 for seniors and children. Cal U students with valid CalCards are admitted free.

For ticket information, or to order tickets (with a credit card) by phone, call the Steele Box Office at (724) 938-5943.

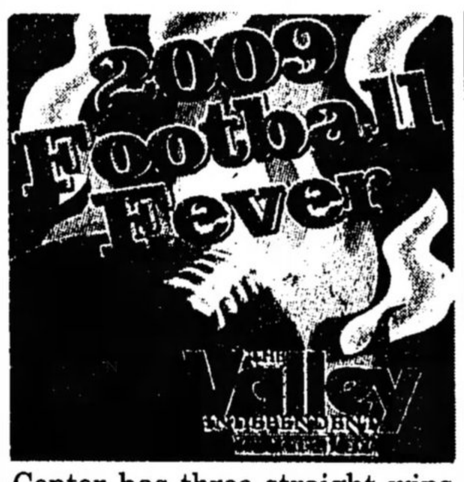
Picking area football winners



Taking a look at this weekend's area football games after a 7-3 showing dropped my season record to 45-12:

RINGGOLD AT BV AREA

The area's second best rivalry behind only Charleroi and Monessen. A homecoming for two new Ringgold assistants, Tommy Thompson and Mike Metikosh. Thompson was the line coach during the Leps' glory days under Gary Dongilli when they dominated the Keystone Conference while Metikosh was a BVA star running back. Meanwhile, former BVA standout Erik Gill is back on the Leps' sideline after spending the previous two seasons on Jeff Petrucci's staff at Ringgold. BVA is led by Matt Green, who's averaging 115 yards a game. Ringgold counters with quarterback Dylan Patch, who ran for 195 yards and touchdowns of 79 and 71 yards in last week's 24-22 loss to unbeaten Chartiers Valley. BVA leads the all-time series, 14-12-1. Go with BVA by nine points.

JEFF-MORGAN AT MONESSEN

The only blemish on the Rockets' record is a 44-13 loss at Beth-Center. Jeff-Morgan's victims include Leechburg (34-14), Avella (42-6), Geibel (47-19), Carmichaels (20-15) and West Greene (33-0). Jeff-Morgan quarterback Brandon Kozich has thrown for over 600 yards and six touchdowns. After leading rusher Hans Lubich had to be taken to the hospital by ambulance last week, Ryan Knight came in to rush for 158 yards and four touchdowns and Derek Haiden, coach Jan Haiden's son, added 104 yards. ShelDon Miller ran for 144 yards and two touchdowns in Monessen's 33-14 win at Jefferson. The last time the Rockets played at Memorial Stadiun in 2006, they went home a 35-6 winner. Not this time. Monessen wins by two touchdowns.

MCGUFFEY AT CHARLEROI

Interstate Conference feature. The Highlanders own a 6-0 win over Greensburg Central Catholic, which handed the Cougars their lone defeat in the season opener. McGuffey also downed East Allegheny (27-15), Brownsville (47-0) and South Allegheny (40-0) around losses to unbeaten Mt. Pleasant (17-6) and once-beaten Jeannette (22-8). Trenton Bedillion, who had two interceptions in last year's 20-7 win over the Cougars, leads McGuffey's defense. Charleroi sophomore Quentin Briggs is 83 yards away from a second 1,000-yard season. In a low scoring game, Charleroi wins its sixth straight by six points.

CALIFORNIA AT BETH-CENTER

Second-place showdown in Tri-County South Conference. The Bulldogs rebounded from a tough 13-12 loss at Monessen by raking Mapletown, 48-8. Beth-Center also shows wins over Carlynton (24-6), Carmichaels (28-6) and Jefferson-Morgan (44-13) around a non-conference one-point loss to Burgettstown, 7-6. Sophomore quarterback Sal Faieta has been impressive throwing for 606 yards and six touchdowns. Cal is hurting with three of its captains - quarterback DJ Martinak, wide receiver Wade Stinnett and running back Mike Evans - doubtful with injuries. Beth-Center has three straight wins over the Trojans. Make that four by 13 points.

AVELLA AT BENTWORTH

After scoring only one touchdown in successive losses to Jefferson-Morgan (42-6), Chartiers-Houston (12-0), Frazier (28-2) and Serra (40-0), Avella posted the WPIAL's biggest surprise of the season by edging once-beaten Fort Cherry, 22-21. Avella opened the campaign with a 44-28 win over Geibel. Bentworth, meanwhile, fell to both Geibel (27-21) and Fort Cherry (46-6). The Bearcats own six straight victories over the Eagles with the average winning margin being 35 points. In a mild upset, Avella gets the nod by two points.

FORT CHERRY AT FRAZIER

Which Fort Cherry team will the Commodores see? The one that started out 4-0 with a 40 point average in victories over Carmichaels (28-12), West Greene (47-6), Bentworth (46-6) and Serra (42-34) or the one that was stunned by Avella (22-21) last week after suffering its first loss to Clairton (45-6). The Rangers have had Frazier's number with six straight wins over the past 11 years including a 71-38 rout last year. Frazier is eyeing its first two-game win streak after edging Bugettstown, 21-20, in overtime. The pick is Fort Cherry by eight points.

YOUGH AT UNIONTOWN

The Red Raiders led West Mifflin 17-6 at halftime before going down to a 31-17 defeat in their last outing. Uniontown owns wins over Quad A Connellsville(7-6), Derry (21-13) and Albert Gallatin (35-13) with its other losses at Thomas Jefferson (34-19) and at Greensburg Salem (18-0). Arnold Walker has accounted for 10 of Uniontown's 14 touchdowns. With only six touchdowns Yough has been struggling offensively. Take Uniontown by 13 points.

ELIZABETH AT DERRY

Non-conference game. Derry is coming off shutout wins over Laurel Highlands (12-0) and Southmoreland (55-0) afer losing to Quad A Latrobe (21-0), West Mifflin (30-20), Uniontown (21-13) and Yough (17-14). The Warriors are 5-0 against Keystone Conference teams including a 38-19 romp last year when Josh Pomilio (153 yards and two TDs) and Gerald Johnson (122 yards and two TDs) combined for 275 yards and four touchdowns. Pomilio and Johnson are back. Go with Elizabeth by 10 points.

EDINBORO AT CAL U

PSAC West headliner between the two co-leaders with identical 4-0 records. Edinboro is No. 2 and Cal No. 6 in the Super One regional rankings. Edinboro has won five-in-a-row over C.W. Post (31-23), Slippery Rock (28-24), Gannon (22-20), Lock Haven (41-6) and Indiana (38-24) after a 24-14 defeat to Shippensburg. The Scots also beat West Liberty State, 42-30. Edinboro features the PSAC's top quarterback in Trevor Harris, who's thrown for 1,827 yards and 13 touchdowns. Cal's Josh Portis has thrown for 1,425 yards and a league-high 19 TDs. Cal has won the last four meetings to take a 38-35-2 lead in the all-time series. Take Cal in a close one by a Mark Domonkos field goal.

Shootout success

Chris Kunitz's goal was the game-winner as Pens stay perfect on the road.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Right now, the Pittsburgh Penguins almost seem more comfortable on the road than at home. That's a scary thought for the rest of the NHL.

Chris Kunitz beat Cam Ward on the 12th shot of a shootout to help the defending Stanley Cup champions beat the Carolina Hurricanes 3-2 on Wednesday night, setting a franchise record for most consecutive road wins to start a season.

Evgeni Malkin and Michael Rupp scored in regulation to help the Penguins improve to 5-0 on the road. Pittsburgh had won its first four twice before, the last time coming two seasons ago, but bested that with its fifth straight win against the Hurricanes.

The win ended a four-game, seven-day road trip for the Penguins, who had beaten Toronto and Ottawa by three goals in each of the past two games. This time, Pittsburgh blew a 2-0 lead entering the final period before holding on for the victory through the overtime and an extended shootout.

"We were 4-0 on this road trip," Rupp said, "but the reality of it was we weren't perfect by any stretch."

It was the first meeting between the teams since last season's Eastern Conference finals, which Pittsburgh swept by a combined score of 20-9 on the way to the Stanley Cup. Carolina shook up its blue line in the offseason to get bigger defensemen to match up with offensive-minded teams like Pittsburgh, only to see the Penguins again find a way to beat the Hurricanes — with the past three wins all coming in the RBC Center.

"It's really important just to establish the way we want to play," Penguins captain Sidney Crosby said of the 5-0 road mark. "Early on in the season, you're trying to work things out and adjust, and for the most part, everyone knows what they need to do here. It's nice that we're seeing some results here early."

Ray Whitney scored twice for Carolina to erase Pittsburgh's early lead, while Ward finished with 36 saves — including a key stop of Malkin from between the faceoff circles less than a minute into overtime.

But in the end, it wasn't Malkin or Crosby who made the clinching play. Instead, it was Kunitz, who hadn't found the back of the net in regulation this season before slipping the puck between Ward's pads for the victory.

"When your number's called," Kunitz said, "you try to go up and make a good move and put the puck on the net."

Pittsburgh seemed to have the game in control heading into the final period. Rupp had given the Penguins the early lead when he took a short pass from Malkin to set up a 2-on-1 rush, then skated in on Ward to flip the puck by him at the right post at 14:24.

Malkin followed with an

Aaron Smith

Steelers now dealing with loss of Smith

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Playing for a month without Troy Polamalu was difficult enough for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Playing the rest of the season without Aaron Smith might be an equally big challenge for one of the NFL's best defenses.

On the same day Polamalu returned to practice after missing four games with a knee injury, the Steelers scrambled on Wednesday to replace Smith, the run-smothering defensive end who was placed on the injured reserve list with a torn rotator cuff in his right shoulder.

Smith has been to the Pro Bowl only once in 11 seasons and isn't as well-known nationally as Polamalu, the five-time Pro Bowl safety, or linebacker James Harrison, last year's Defensive Player of the Year. But several Steelers said Smith might be the most difficult defensive player to replace because he is so critical not only to stopping the run, but to keeping the line of scrimmage under control for the pass rush to work.

"A guy like that, I truly believe, is irreplaceable," Polamalu said. "There's a lot of other big role positions that get a lot of prestige, but who can always be replaced — myself included — but it's always tough when it has to do with our line. I truly believe our defensive line controls the outcome of the game. It's big. It hurts us."

The Steelers found out late in the 2007 season what can happen when Smith is out.

They were No. 2 against the run when Smith tore a biceps muscle against New England, but then gave up 629 yards rushing while losing three of their final four games. Jacksonville beat them twice in Pittsburgh — once in December and again in a wild-card playoff game three weeks later.

Linebacker James Farrior, who usually lines up behind Smith, said it's obvious what losing Smith means to a defense that is No. 4 overall in the league and No. 2 against the run.

"You don't have that dominant player that we had," Farrior said.

BVA out, Cal in for WPIAL team golf

Leps miss out on qualifying by one stroke.

Belle Vernon Area High golf coach Jay Lustig was very concerned about his Leps having to play at the Castle Hills Golf Club instead of Donegal Highlands Wednesday in the WPIAL Division I Team semifinals.

He proved to be right.

Despite having the medalist and third place finisher, the Leps missed advancing to Monday's WPIAL finals at Cedarbrook by one stroke.

Lustig's two sons, Bo and Tyber, placed first and third at two-over par 74 and four-over par 76, respectively.

Bo, a junior, had nines of 38 and 36 with Tyber, a senior, going 39-37.

The other three Leps - freshman Kirby Manown (83), senior Kyle Naden (84) and junior Tim Moore (86) - combined for 253 leaving BVA at 403.

Manown shot a 39 on his last nine holes after a bad start with a triple-bogey 7 and bogey 4 on the first two holes.

Sophomore Brad Antal had a non-count 90.

Penn-Trafford topped the field wih a 394, three ahead of Bethel Park.

Fox Chapel came in third at 402, followed by the Leps. Blackhawk (404), Thomas Jefferson (407). North Allegheny (408) and Mars (410).

"Without question Castle Hills plays much tougher than Donegal Highlands," said Jay Lustig. "We shot scores of 380 and 381 at Donegal over the weekend which we would never be able to do at Castle Hills."

The top three teams at Donegal Highlands were Central Catholic (391), Peters Township (393) and Latrobe (405).

An eager return to Charlotte

Confident in his team's race program, driver David Reutimann is looking forward to going back to the site of his first Cup win

By Jim Utter
McClatchy Newspapers

It shouldn't be a surprise David Reutimann's favorite track in the Sprint Cup Series is Lowe's Motor Speedway.

After all, it was the site of his first series victory, when he captured the win in the May 25 rain-shortened Coca-Cola 600 this season.

"Your first win is always special. Even if it's at a racetrack you previously weren't a huge fan of, it automatically becomes your favorite track," said Reutimann.

"We had run decent at Charlotte in the past but it's never been one of my best tracks, for sure."

The best news for Reutimann: He and his team are in an even better position to win as the series returns to LMS for Saturday night's NASCAR Banking 500 than they were at the time of his victory.

Earlier this season, Reutimann was just beginning to show potential.

He finished fourth at Las Vegas, won a pole at Texas and finished eighth at Phoenix — nothing spectacular as the series moved to Charlotte in May. And Reutimann wasn't spectacular in the race, either, running in the top 10 most of the race.

But when it appeared rain was on the horizon, Reutimann's team gambled and stayed out during a round of pit stops while those ahead of him on the lead lap elected to pit. The rain came and cut short the race which sent Reutimann to Victory Lane.

"Regardless of the circumstances, the win still makes it a special race track," Reutimann said. "I remember that day, long after the race was over and it was still raining, still being in my uniform and I wondered what it would be like when we came back."

Since that race, Reutimann's performance and consistency have increased significantly — so much so he remained in the hunt most of the season for a spot in the 12-driver Chase for the Sprint Cup.

RUSTY JARRETT FOR NASCAR

David Reutimann celebrates in Victory Lane after winning the Coca-Cola 600 at Lowe's Motor Speedway in May, his first career Sprint Cup win.

He didn't make the cut but he is currently a career-best 16th in points. He has three top-five and six top-10 finishes since his Charlotte victory.

"The stuff I've been driving the past month has been a lot better than the stuff I was driving then," Reutimann said. "It's better now and I expect it will continue to get better, and I'm sure a lot of other guys can say the same thing."

There have been small victories along the way.

He did not make the Chase but his victory at Charlotte guarantees him an appearance in next season's NASCAR All-Star race.

At Kansas two weeks ago, Reutimann finished eighth and was the only driver in the top-10 who was not competing in the Chase.

"I would rather be in the Chase but I'm still proud of our accomplishments this season," he said. "By no means do we sit back and say, 'We ran eighth. That was good.'

"We should still be capable of running in the top five. We're a good enough team to do that and win more races."

Could that happen again this weekend? Reutimann is ready to find out.

"We've come a long way with our program, especially on the mile-and-a-half race tracks," he said. "I'm anxious to get back to Charlotte and see if we have a little bit better package than before."

THIS WEEK'S RACE

NASCAR BANKING 500

Where: Lowe's Motor Speedway, a 1.5-mile banked, paved quad-oval located in Concord, N.C.

When: Saturday at 7 p.m. (all times ET). Qualifying is 7:10 p.m. Thursday.

TV: ABC.

Radio: Performance Racing Network.

Last year's winner: Jeff Burton.

Worth mentioning: Grammy-nominated musical artists TobyMac and MercyMe will perform a pre-race concert prior to Saturday's Cup race at Lowe's Motor Speedway. Fee and Robert Pierre also will be on hand as part of pre-race festivities. The concert begins at 2 p.m. in Turn 4 and is free with a ticket to the race.

STOP 'N' GO

WHO'S HOT

- Jimmie Johnson: Whatever the secret is to success in the Chase, Johnson and his team invented it.
- Jeff Gordon: Has "almost won" eight times. Will that mean he will "almost win" another title?
- Juan Pablo Montoya: Has never performed better in NASCAR and yet still losing points to the leader.
- Tony Stewart: Just imagine how strong he would be if he had incident-free races.

WHO'S NOT

- Kyle Busch: Already out of the Chase, now the flu forced him out of his car.
- Denny Hamlin: Just when he appeared ready to pounce in the Chase, he is virtually knocked out of contention.
- Auto Club Speedway: Never did anything to earn a second Cup date and continues to prove why.

Stewart's team proving to be resilient in the Chase

By Jim Utter
McClatchy Newspapers

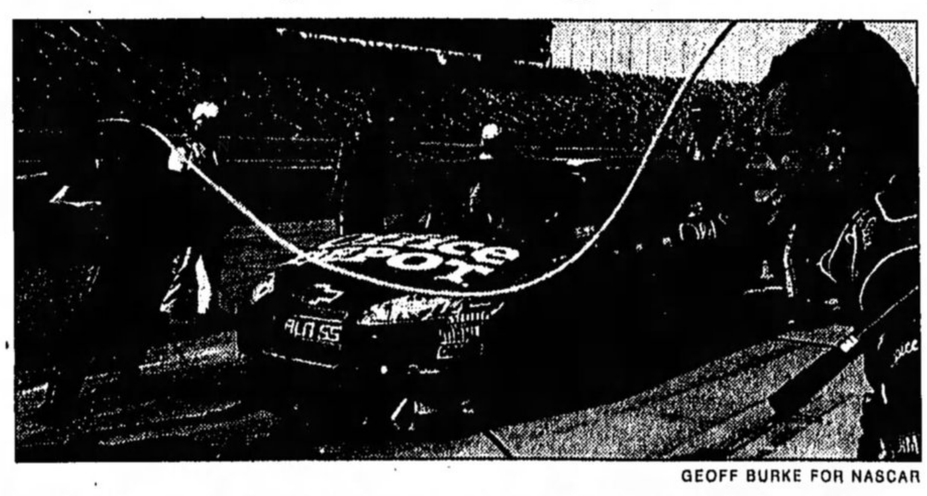
So far in this Chase for the Sprint Cup, Tony Stewart is the king of comebacks.

Three times in four Chase races Stewart has experienced problems, then rallied for finishes that have kept him in contention for a third series championship.

Stewart was penalized about halfway through for speeding on pit road and fell as low as 30th before fighting back to a fifth-place finish in Sunday's Pepsi 500 at Auto Club Speedway in Fontana, Calif.

Stewart remains fourth in the series standings and 84 points behind new leader Jimmie Johnson.

"This team never quits. It never has and it never will," Stewart said after the race. "It was a long day, for sure. We got a couple lucky breaks."



GEOFF BURKE FOR NASCAR

Tony Stewart, driving the No. 14 car, pulls in for a pit stop during the Price Chopper 400 at Kansas Speedway on Oct. 4.

Two weeks ago at Dover, Del., Stewart got into a wreck 32 laps into the 400-lap race and his team fixed a large hole in the nose of his No. 14 Chevrolet. He fell as low as 33rd before rallying for a ninth-place finish that day.

In the Chase opener at New Hampshire, Stewart led four times for 52 laps early in the race before a loose axle-cap required a lengthy pit stop for repairs and dropped him to 30th. The car eventually returned to early race form and he finished 14th.

Last week at Kansas he had no problems, which translated into a victory.

Would he rather have an incident-free race like the one at Kansas? Doesn't matter, Stewart said.

"I like the end result. I don't care what it takes.

"I don't care if we have to go 12 laps down and have the right side knocked off — whatever gets us back in the top five," Stewart said.

"That's what we have to have the rest of the season."

RANDOM THOUGHTS

■ No more excuses. It's time International Speedway Corp. and NASCAR admit what has been painfully obvious to everyone: Two races won't work at Auto Club Speedway.

This fall, the track had a better date, cooler weather and a race in the Chase. And still the turnout was pathetic.

Why keep rewarding an area whose fans simply don't wish to show up instead of holding a race someplace where they'll fill the stands?

■ Since Jimmie Johnson's win at Dover, an air of inevitability has overtaken this Chase. And Johnson didn't even have the points lead after that one.

Now, Johnson has two wins in four Chase races, the points lead and his Hendrick Motorsports teammate Jeff Gordon all but conceded the title on Sunday should he stay out of trouble.

■ Another strong run by Dale Earnhardt Jr. and another bad finish not of his doing. I'm sure Earnhardt is buoyed about running well the last couple of weeks, but I'm just as sure it's depressing when he looks at the final rundown from the race.

"It's like when Troy was out, we didn't have that big playmaker in the secondary and you see that sometimes during games."

After Polamalu tore the medial collateral ligament in his left knee against Tennessee on Sept. 10, the Steelers lost their next two games in the closing seconds to the Bears and Bengals, gave up 21 points in the fourth quarter while beating San Diego, and scrambled to put away Detroit, which has won once in two seasons.

Smith rarely makes the high-impact plays that Polamalu does, but safety Ryan Clark said the Steelers wouldn't have been No. 1 in the league the last two seasons without him. Last season, the Steelers narrowly missed becoming the first team since the 1970 NFL merger to lead the league in fewest points, total yards, rushing yards and passing yards allowed.

"Nobody's going to replace him," Clark said. "I think he's one of the unsung heroes in this league, a guy that's very underappreciated for what he's done for many years."

This season, Smith has 13 tackles, two sacks and a blocked field goal. He is eighth in team history with 43 sacks.

To replace the 6-foot-5, 298-pound Smith on their 53-man roster, the Steelers re-signed Ra'Shon "Sunny" Harris, a sixth-round draft pick they cut in September. Harris had been on the Carolina Panthers' practice squad.

First-round draft pick Ziggy Hood and longtime backup Travis Kirschke probably will get most of the playing time for Smith, starting Sunday against Cleveland.

Coach Mike Tomlin said Hood isn't advanced enough to take over the job full time, and Hood agreed.

"For right now, I'm just holding a spot until he (Smith) gets healthy," Hood said. "I can only do so much right now, there's so much I've got to learn, a lot more I need to know about the defense. But everything I've learned — from my stance, shedding blocks — I learned from him. I watch him and try to study him as much as I can and try to mimic him."

Farrior said there's one way for the Steelers to react to Smith's loss.

"We need to win," he said. "We need to win so guys won't talk about Aaron being out."

SPORTS HISTORY

30 Years Ago

Jim Rooker and Bert Blyleven combined on a five-hitter as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat Baltimore, 7-1, to trim the Orioles' World Series lead to 3-2.

Pittsburgh lost seven of nine fumbles in a 34-10 upset loss in Cincinnati.

20 Years Ago

Sam Mannery threw for 312 yards and three touchdowns and ran for a game-high 89 yards in California University's 30-13 win over Slippery Rock.

Gino Guerrieri threw two fourth quarter touchdown passes to Eric Winkler as Yough rallied for a 15-7 exhibition win over Keystone Oaks.

Boise State's Doug Martin runs through a tackle by Tulsa's John Destin Boise State's 28-21 win.

Boise State holds off Tulsa upset bid, 28-21

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — With No. 5 Boise State playing from behind for the first time this season, quarterback Kellen Moore was at his best.

Moore threw two short touchdown passes to Tommy Gallarda, and the undefeated Broncos survived a late scare from Tulsa to escape with a 28-21 victory Wednesday night in one of the last road tests standing between them and another trip to the BCS.

Coach Chris Petersen called it a "solid win" but he doubted it would be the kind of impressive statement pollsters were looking for as the Broncos (6-0) had the college football stage to themselves the same week the BCS standings are to be released for the first time.

"It's usually never good enough for a lot of people, usually including us and our team," Petersen said. "Tulsa's a good team, and this was going to be a good test for us. I think we battled hard against some really explosive playmakers.

"The important thing is that we get a little bit better. Teams don't stay the same, and we won't either. We either need to get better or we're going to get passed by."

With Boise State down twice early, Moore was perfect on two scoring drives to put the Broncos ahead to stay. He threw an 8-yard lob to Gallarda in the back corner of the end zone for an 8-7 lead, and followed that with a 17-yard TD pass to Austin Pettis as Boise State went ahead 15-14.

The lead eventually grew to 28-14 on the second of two field goals by Kyle Brotzman.

"It was good for us because I believe being down like that woke us up," running back Doug Martin said.

Tulsa (4-2) got within 28-21 in the fourth quarter when G.J. Kinne and Slick Shelley connected on consecutive passes for 91 yards, including a 55-yarder for a touchdown. The Golden Hurricane had one last chance to tie it in the final 2 minutes, but Boise State forced its fourth three-and-out of the second half to ice the game.

"There's a lot of momentum going the opposite way when you're playing on the road," Petersen said. "We fought hard enough and responded well enough to do what we needed to do."

L.A., Philly go at it again

NL powers met in league championship series a year ago.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Phillies and Dodgers are back in the National League championship series for the second straight year, making them the closest thing the NL has to a couple of dominant teams.

They are the first repeat teams since Houston and St. Louis squared off in 2004 and '05, and only the third repeaters since Atlanta and Pittsburgh met in 1991 and '92.

"I heard Joe Torre say the beauty of it is always going back and seeing how many times you can win," Phillies manager Charlie Manuel said Wednesday of his Los Angeles counterpart.

"Believe me, we came back here to win. I have more determination probably than I had last year, and I mean that from the fact that that's how much I want it, and I think I know how much our players want it."

A year ago, the Phillies took a 2-0 lead at home and went on to beat the Dodgers in five games in the NLCS before defeating Tampa Bay to win the World Series.

Now, they're trying to become the first repeat World Series winners since Torre's Yankees did so from 1998-2000.

"When you repeat, you basically have to go through a tougher season to get there," Torre said. "You've got a bull's-eye on your back. Everyone seems to put on their Sunday best to play you. You always get the best pitchers matching up."

The Phillies have won the NLCS in each of their last four appearances, beating the Dodgers last year and in 1980, and winning it in 1993 and 1983.

This year, the Dodgers own home-field advantage against the team they beat four times in seven games during the regular season.

"Because we're the ones that took it away from them, they definitely want to prove something," Phillies Game 1 starter Cole Hamels said. "If I'm able to go out and execute strikes and really get ahead of them, I can definitely make this a better game for my pitching."

Clayton Kershaw will start for the Dodgers tonight in a matchup of left-handers.

At 21 years and 209 days, Kershaw will be the third-youngest Game 1 starter in postseason history and the eighth-youngest starter overall, according to STATS LLC. The youngest Game 1 pitcher was Fernando Valenzuela, who was 20 years and 339 days when he started for the Dodgers in the 1981 division series.

"I've grown up a lot since last year," said Kershaw, who worked out of the bullpen in last year's NLCS. "It's not obviously the same starting Game 1 of a series or anything like that, but just to have the experience to get out there and pitch against them a little bit is definitely going to help me out."

Torre went with Kershaw because he came up big in the Dodgers' division-clinching win against Colorado on Oct. 3. He pitched six scoreless innings in that game, striking out his first five batters and retiring his first 11 in a row.

"He's the most mature 21-year-old kid I've run across," teammate Randy Wolf said. "At the same time, he's stubborn and that's good because I don't want a pushover guy. If he's throwing strikes, he's pretty amazing."

Stull thrives under Cignetti

New coordinator has helped Pitt QB's game immensely.

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Pitt quarterback Bill Stull is thriving under new offensive coordinator Frank Cignetti Jr., so much so that other players can see the impact Cignetti is having.

Stull has 13 touchdown passes and three interceptions, a season after throwing nine TD passes and 10 interceptions. Stull played so poorly during Pitt's 3-0 loss to Oregon State in the Sun Bowl, he was forced to win back his job during spring ball and training camp.

"Coach Cignetti does a great job explaining things to me and getting me ready to play," Stull said. "Everyone knows where to go and what to do. This offense really complements my style of play and our offense's style of play, so that's why I'm more comfortable now than I've ever been at Pitt."

Stull looks a lot more confident and less prone to making mistakes.

"I think coach Cignetti has helped him a lot in that regard, and he feels more comfortable than ever back there," wide receiver Oderick Turner said. "He'll take some shots if necessary to get the ball out. He'll take a hit if he needs to."

Tight end Dorin Dickerson, Stull's roommate, also has benefited from the coordinator's change. He has seven touchdown catches, five more than last season.

Cignetti took a pay cut to leave Cal and return to western Pennsylvania, where his father, Frank, was the longtime coach and athletic director at Indiana (Pa.) The elder Cignetti also coached West Virginia from 1976-79.

Get it to Gilyard

Brian Kelly spent his bye week evaluating Cincinnati's high-powered offense to see how it can become more efficient.

The coach's idea? Get the ball to Mardy Gilyard even more.

The senior receiver ranks 13th nationally in yards receiving per game. He's the biggest scoring threat for eighth-ranked Cincinnati, which throws to him as often as possible. Lately, it hasn't been enough.

"He still leads our team in receptions, he gets the most touches," Kelly said. "We have to find different ways to get him the football."

Opponents have started stacking their coverages to blanket Gilyard, who will go for a long stretch without getting the ball. Kelly is considering moving him away from the sideline and putting him in different spots at times — maybe even in the backfield — to give him a chance to get the ball more easily.

Kelly also wants to do a better job of using Gilyard as a decoy when the other team is too focused on him.

"So this isn't always about the offense has to run through Mardy, but it does require us to be creative and make sure he does get the touches," Kelly said.

Rutgers' 'D' steps up

After giving up 47 points and 510 yards in a season-opening loss to now No. 8 Cincinnati, Rutgers defense has found itself in beating Howard, Florida International, Maryland and Texas Southern.

The Scarlet Knights (4-1, 0-1 Big East) have scored four defensive touchdowns and forced 12 turnovers in the past three games.

"Our defense always tries to score touchdowns," said senior defensive end George Johnson, who recovered a fumble for a touchdown against Maryland. "We know how it elevates our team when we score, and we strive to make these big plays. We joke around and say we're going to try and outscore our offense in a game. But seriously, when our defense can score a touchdown, it just changes the game completely."

BVA, Scotties fit to be tied

By BILL HUGHES
For The Valley Independent

Belle Vernon Area remained deadlocked with Southmoreland for first place in Class AAA Section 6 with a 3-0 win at Waynesburg.

"Our defense played well again and they are just solid in limiting the other team's opportunities," said BVA coach Paul Sasko. "Jessalyn (Timko) played great in goal and although we missed her in the field, it's nice to have an experienced player step in."

Timko, a senior, made five saves to record the shutout while filling in for injured Lindsay Lash.

Marla Sasko, Michele Miele and Laura Kovalchuk scored for the Lady Leps (13-2-2, 11-0-2), who close the regular campaign Mpnday at home with Yough.

A win against the Lady Cougars gives them at least a share of their fifth straight section title.

"We have to play our game and we have no control over Southmoreland," added Sasko.

Southmoreland finishes at home with Connellsville.

South Park 3, Ringgold 0

The Lady Rams fell to the Class AA power Lady Eagles (14-1-1) in an exhibition contest.

"We ran into a better team tonight,"said Ringgold coach Tom Cameron. "We gave a great effort and I am happy with how the girls played but South Park is just such a great program right now."

The Lady Rams fell to 6-10.

Elizabeth Forward 4, Trinity 0

The Lady Warriors defeated Trinity for the second time this season.

Elizabeth Forward (5-10, 4-7) goes to Butler Saturday.

Greensburg C.C 11, Monessen 0

Darla Sebbens and Chelsea Miller both had three goals for the Lady Centurions, who handed the Lady Greyhounds (4-9-1, 2-8-1) their fourth straight defeat.

SPORTS DIGEST

Charleroi Fame game to Ringgold

Charleroi High's 24th annual Hall of Fame game will be played 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Ringgold's Joe Montana Stadium.

No it's not a misprint.

Due to the weather and field conditions, Charleroi moved its 7:30 p.m. exhibition contest with Ringgold to the Rams' fie|d.

This year's inductees will be Chad Roule and Mark Rajakovic.

A 1994 graduate, Roule was a former Cougar all-time single season and career goal leader with 25 and 62, respectively. His senior season the Cougars went 19-3.

A 1995 graduate, Rajakovic captained the Cougars his senior seson and was stopper on the 1993 team which lost in the WPIAL semifinals to Quaker Valley where he scored Charleroi's lopne goal.

The '93 Cougars gave up only 20 goals with nine shutouts and only one goal allowed in seven other games.

California loses to Mercyhurst

The California University men's soccer team blew a 2-0 lead in a frustrating 3-2 PSAC West loss to visiting Mercyhurst Wednesday.

A penalty kick by Billy Colton with six minutes remaining snapped the Vulcans' seven-game winning streak.

Mike Luecke and Nick Helbig scored California's two goals in the opening six minutes.

The two teams were whistled for a combined 35 fouls with five yellow cards.

California (10-4, 2-4) resumes Tuesday at Gannon.

Mercyhurst (11-3, 5-1) is tied for first place.

Cal women edge Davis & Elkins

The seventh graders (9-1) were a 31-26 winner with Bri Rathway (10), Kaitlyn Slagus (9) and Jenna DiPerna (8) combining for 27 points.

Wilson picked for Tanner Award

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jack Wilson, who played for the Pittsburgh Pirates for nearly nine seasons until being traded to Seattle in July, is the winner of the Chuck Tanner Award for the second time in four seasons.

impressive goal in the second, taking a give-and-go pass from Pascal Dupuis then squeezing the puck between Ward and the right post from a steep angle early in the period.

But Whitney answered with two quick third-period goals to erase the deficit. First, he slipped a shot underneath Marc-Andre Fleury at 4:25, then redirecting a shot from Tim Gleason to tie it midway through the period and re-energize the home crowd.

Carolina coach Paul Maurice said the performance was probably his team's best of the season.

"Even if we lost the game tonight, you have some confidence going forward," Maurice said.

"Tonight I think was really our first game where I thought we got back to looking like the team that plays the style of game we want to play."

NOTES: The Penguins have scored first in five of seven games this season. ... Fleury finished with 27 saves. ... Whitney scored a point for the third straight game. ... Kunitz also had an assist for the fourth straight game. He has one regulation goal in his last 36 games, which came in Game 2 of the Eastern finals against the Hurricanes. ... Carolina RW Tuomo Ruutu assisted on both of Whitney's goals.

Gifts for grandchildren can be both fiun, practical

Dear ABBY

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Where's the Fun in Upstate New York" (July 26), whose husband, "Hugh," insisted they buy their grandson a $100 savings bond for his first birthday when she wanted to splurge on toys and clothes. I understand her frustration.

Couples should decide together what to do, not tell the other what will be done.

That said, I agree with Hugh that $100 to $150 on gifts for a 1-year-old is excessive. The child's room will soon look like an overloaded toy store. I have seen this in our extended family. At Christmas it took 2 1/2 hours to open all the gifts. Egads! We've become a nation of excess, and kids expect it. Years ago, I approached the parents of our godchildren with the offer of savings bonds on holidays, which they gratefully accepted. Two of the "children" are now in college, and we're pleased we lifted a bit of the burden of the cost they'll face. I know it's not a "fun" gift, especially for the little ones, so we always include a token present for "now." I hope that couple can reach a similar agreement and not let this drive a wedge. — SENSIBLE IN IOWA

DEAR SENSIBLE: The majority of those who wrote to comment on the letter from "Where's the Fun" were — like you — as concerned about the state of the woman's marriage as the gift issue.

Read on:

DEAR ABBY: It's not like you to miss the warning sign of a controlling spouse. If Hugh is truly "wonderful in every way," then they should agree to disagree on this issue.

She should spend what she wants, within reason, on gifts of her choice for their grandson's birthday. If he feels strongly about the savings bond, which is also a wonderful gift, then they should get that, too. Because they are financially comfortable, and this is the only area of disagreement, surely Hugh can compromise.

I am alarmed that he has already decided what they'll be giving the child for every birthday. Grandparents traditionally engage in a mixture of indulgent and practical gift-giving. She was not looking to buy a wildly over-the-top gift. Hugh needs to relax and be a partner, not a dictator. And by the way, "fun" is not a dirty word. It's Baby's first birthday — lighten up! — MELISSA IN NEW YORK

DEAR ABBY: Some spouses suffer from "economic abuse" when one partner dominates financial decisions. I agree that a baby won't be impressed by pricey items, but this woman's gift choices are a form of self-expression. She should be allowed the joy of choosing presents and enjoying her grandbaby, especially since she contributes to household finances, but even if she didn't. Sometimes these gifts become treasured keepsakes passed through generations. — GIVING MY TWO CENTS' WORTH IN ABILENE

DEAR ABBY: While the adults in my life did give me toys and material things for my birthdays and holidays, I am 26 now and I have little recollection of what they were. What I know now is that because of the generous gifts of savings bonds from those loved ones, my fiance and I were able to make a down payment on a beautiful home without being "house poor." Those bonds allowed us to make a major step forward in our lives and be comfortable and secure.

It means the world that the adults who loved me and are no longer with me are part of this house and my new life, even though they could not be at my wedding. — SARAH IN HOUSTON

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I decided early on that we'd open a joint bank account and place half of each of our earnings into it. I opened another account in my name only for the other half. That way, if we disagreed on something — such as a gift — I could buy it myself. It has worked well.

VALLEY CLUB NOTES

Auxiliary, Mon-Valley Health Resources

President Maureen Lusk opened the October meeting of The Auxiliary of Mon-Vale Health Resources Inc. with the Auxiliary Prayer and the flag pledge. Forty-eight members attended the meeting.

Lusk introduced nurse Cathy Liberatore, who discussed ways to determine if a person has a cold or influenza.

She told the group it is more at risk because it works with patients and the public. Washing hands is the biggest means of prevention. She stated the use of alcohol liquid or handy wipes is a good idea if soap and water are not available.

Corresponding secretary Dolly Gaudio read the resignation of Mary Smith. Child Registry Chairwoman Barbara Ferguson said 622 kindergarten children in 12 schools have been fingerprinted.

Amy Brown introduced new member June Hopkins. Ruthanne Dulovich said a luncheon for 60 Volunteens is scheduled Nov. 8. Mary Lou Lachman presented 100-hour pins to Helen Litavec and Gail Jericho.

Ways and Means Chairwoman Dorothy Paterline noted the following events: A luncheon at Alleys Tea House, Oct. 23; lobby craft sale, Oct. 26; bus trip to Rivers Casino, Oct. 27; Harvest Luncheon, open to the public, Nov. 4; and bus trip to Wheeling Casino, Nov. 17. For information the public can call Lillian Nard at (724) 929-6030.

The following served refreshments: Gilda Figler, Dolly Gaudio, Marie Blatnik, Edwina Valdiserri and Betty Manderino. The next meeting will be Nov. 9.

Lack of state money impacts children's services agencies

Child-welfare advocates claim harm could be irreparable.

By TIM PUKO
For The Valley Independent
tpuko@tribweb.com

Children's programs end up winners under the new state budget, but the 101-day delay before its passage likely caused irreparable harm to child-services agencies, said child-welfare advocates Wednesday.

Under the budget, the state's Children's Health Insurance Program will expand to ensure there is no waiting list. Counties will receive a $7.9 million boost for child-welfare programs.

The budget impasse occurred, in part, because some legislators took a stand to help find money for children's programs despite the recession, said Joan L. Benso, president and CEO of Pennsylvania Partnerships for Children.

"This was a huge legislative effort for children," said Christopher P. Smith, executive director of Child Watch of Pittsburgh, which hosted about 25 people for a panel discussion yesterday at Children's Museum of Pittsburgh. "The process has been extremely damaging. ... It was balanced on the backs of a lot of kids and children's services."

In the three months that legislators argued budgetary matters beyond their July 1 deadline, nonprofit human-service providers that rely on state contracts laid off staff, cut services — and some closed. Some providers won't reopen, and others could take six to nine months to replace employees, although the clients they serve have immediate needs, Smith said.

The state Treasury started mailing about $3 billion in checks for providers this week, Treasurer Rob McCord said Tuesday. Allegheny County officials said they expected some money to come yesterday or today.

The county's Department of Human Services is unsure how much it will get this year, Director Marc Cherna said. The Human Service Development Fund will lose about 10 percent to 13 percent - affecting about 25 programs for the disabled, jail inmates and schoolchildren.

Mental-health and mental-retardation programs also will be cut slightly, Cherna said.

A lingering issue for child advocates is what might occur next year, and the year after. Lawmakers closed a budget deficit, in part, with temporary federal stimulus funding — spending about $2 billion of it on programs for children and young adults, according to the Pennsylvania Budget and Policy Center.

Republican lawmakers have claimed the budget-income estimates are not correct.

"As bad as next year's going to be, we have to set up the expectation that this cannot happen again," said Mardi Isler, a public-policy consultant for the Pittsburgh Area Association for the Education of Young Children.

"Our neighborhoods cannot be devastated like this again."

State-related colleges feel $$$ pinch

Money for Pitt, Penn State, Temple and Lincoln universities awaiting decision on table games proposal.

By BRAD BUMSTED
For The Valley Independent
bbumsted@tribweb.com

HARRISBURG — There's no justifiable reason for holding up state money for Pitt, Penn State, Temple and Lincoln universities while lawmakers consider whether to legalize table games, Senate Republican leaders said Wednesday.

"There is simply no good reason to withhold this critical funding," Senate President Pro Tempore Joe Scarnati, of Jefferson County, and Senate Majority Leader Dominic Pileggi, of Delaware County, said in a letter sent to House Speaker Keith McCall, D-Carbon County.

The House is holding back separate bills for state-related universities' funding, following passage of a $27.8 billion state budget Friday.

Legalizing table games was expected to produce $200 million but legislative negotiators failed to agree on such issues as the casinos' tax rate and license fees.

The total of so-called "non-preferred" spending being held back is $729 million, money that also would go to the Children's Institute of Pittsburgh, the Fox Chase Cancer Center in Philadelphia and several museums.

House Majority Leader Todd Eachus, D-Hazleton, has said the money must be withheld so the budget can balance.

The House isn't scheduled to return until Nov. 9, but members could be called back before that if leaders negotiate a deal on table games.

Negotiations haven't resumed since the budget was approved.

Senate GOP leaders said yesterday there's sufficient money for the universities even if lawmakers don't approve table games such as blackjack and roulette at slots casinos.

"We believe there is enough money to cover all of the $730 million in non-preferred appropriations even without the table games revenue," said Senate Republican spokesman Erik Arneson.

Even if that were not the case, most of the state-related university funding could be approved and sent to the governor, Republicans say.

Penn State's funding is $333 million. Temple's is $172 million. Pitt would get $167.7 million; Lincoln, $13.7 million.

Gov. Ed Rendell agrees with Senate Republicans that there's a budget cushion but he agrees with House Democrats that table games need to be approved along with the state-related university funding to complete the budget deal, said the governor's spokesman Gary Tuma.

Monongahela '52 marks 75th birthday

Members of the Monongahela High School Class of 1952 celebrated their collective 75th birthday Sept. 19.

Festivities started early in the day at Tubby Hall Riverfront Park in New Eagle for a picnic. Some traveled from as far away as Florida, Arizona, Kentucky, California, Virginia and New York. The weather was fine as the group enjoyed the scenic beauty along the Monongahela River.

Edward Venanzi, class treasurer and toastmaster, led the flag pledge and a rendition of "God Bless America."

The group observed a moment of silence in honor of deceased class members. Alma Collin Blackburn offered an invocation. A catered buffet was followed by birthday cake as the classmates sang "Happy Birthday" to each other. Each classmate received a token birthday gift of assorted postcard photos of the Monongahela area, which were presented by Betty Wenzel Ferrari. The day came to a close with the group singing its alma mater.

The committee comprised Barbara Morris McCormick, Helen Cutright Rice, Gloria Zonca DeRosa, Joann Colteryahn Berkoben, Betty Wenzel Ferrari, Catherine DeRosa Ciccarelli, Lois Collins Powala, Alma Collin Blackburn, Gary Roule and photographer Robert Curcio.

NOTICE TO READERS:
While work-at-home and other informational advertising is often legitimate, we advise readers to fully investigate the background of any company before paying a fee. If an offer sounds "too good to be true", it probably is. Proceed with caution if you are asked to send money or in calling 900 numbers. All phone numbers prefixed by "900" are charged to the caller on a per minute or per call basis. The Valley Independent makes every effort to qualify these charges for the reader. Remember, if you have any doubts, investigate!

IMPORTANT NOTICE
DIVESTMENT OF INTERVENING INTERESTS AND ESTATES ON THE PROPERTY
WHERE PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE PENNSYLVANIA LAW, ALL INTERVENING INTERESTS AND ESTATES ON THE PROPERTY WILL BE DIVESTED BY THE SHERIFF'S SALE UNLESS THE MORTGAGEE HAS OTHERWISE EXPRESSLY CONSENTED IN WRITING TO THE NON-DIVESTMENT.

INITIAL CONSULTANT REPORTS
Pursuant to an order entered in the above captioned proceeding dated July 29, 2008, Robert B. Stein, as Receiver, has filed the Receiver Certification wherein the Receiver certifies that he has obtained the Initial Consulting Reports as is contained in the July 29, 2008 Order. Pursuant to the July 29, 2008 Order, the Initial Consulting Reports will be made available by the Receiver to Interested Bidders (as defined in the July 29, 2008 Order) in accordance with the terms of the July 29, 2008 Order. If you wish to receive the Initial Consultant Reports, you must make such request in writing to the Receiver and otherwise comply with the terms of the July 29, 2008 Order. The Receiver's contact information is as follows: Robert B. Stein, Rudov Stein P.C., 100 First Avenue, Suite 500, Pittsburgh, PA 15222 or rstein@rudovstein.com

You may have the right to prevent or delay the Sheriff's Sale by filing, before the sale occurs, a petition to open or strike the judgment or a petition to stay the execution.

If the judgment was entered because you did not file with the Court any defense or objection, you might have within twenty (20) days after service of the Complaint or Mortgage Foreclosure and Notice of Default, you may have the right to have the judgment opened if you promptly file a petition with the Court alleging a valid defense and a reasonable excuse for failing to file the defense on time. If the judgment is opened, the Sheriff's Sale would ordinarily be delayed pending a trial of the issue of whether the plaintiff has a valid claim to foreclose the mortgage or judgment.

You may also have the right to petition the Court to stay or delay the execution and the Sheriff's Sale if you can show a defect in the Writ of Execution, or demonstrate any other legal or equitable right.

YOU MAY ALSO HAVE THE RIGHT TO HAVE THE SHERIFF'S SALE SET ASIDE IF THE PROPERTY IS SOLD FOR A GROSSLY INADEQUATE PRICE IF THERE ARE DEFECTS IN THE SHERIFF'S SALE TO EXERCISE THIS RIGHT YOU SHOULD FILE A PETITION WITH THE COURT AFTER THE SALE AND BEFORE THE SHERIFF HAS DELIVERED HIS DEED TO THE PROPERTY. THE SHERIFF WILL DELIVER THE DEED IF NO PETITION TO SET ASIDE THE SALE IS FILED WITHIN TEN (10) DAYS FROM THE DATE WHEN THE SCHEDULE OF DISTRIBUTION IS FILED IN THE OFFICE OF THE SHERIFF.

SPECIAL NOTICE ON REAL ESTATE SALES
SHERIFF'S RULE

Tax collectors, attorneys and solicitor's who file tax statements, liened taxes and municipal liens against property being sold at Sheriff's Sale. Hereafter, no statements can be withdrawn or adjustments made after the property has been bid in at a certain price, therefore statements must be correct at the time of filing. THERE WILL BE NO EXCEPTION TO THIS RULE.

SHERIFF SALES

Abstracts of properties taken in execution upon the writs shown, at the number and term shown, as the properties of the severally named defendants, owners or reputed owners, and to be sold by SAMUEL L. ROMANO, Sheriff of Washington County, Pennsylvania on FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 2009 at 10:00 o'clock A.M. in Public Meeting Room 104, Courthouse Square Building, 100 West Beau Street, Washington, Pennsylvania. Ten (10%) percent of the purchase money (but not less than Sheriff's costs), shall be paid on the day of the sale and the balance on or before WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 2009 at 4:00 o'clock P.M.

If, however, such ten (10%) percent down payment not be made on the day of the sale, the property will again be exposed to sale immediately, on the date aforesaid. If balance of payment not be made on Wednesday following the date of sale, the property will again be put up for sale on FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 2009 10:00 o'clock A.M. at the expense and risk of the person whom it was struck off, who in case of any deficiency on such sale, shall make good the same.

(COMPLETE DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPERTIES ARE ON FILE IN THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE AT COURTHOUSE SQUARE, 100 WEST BEAU STREET, ROOM #303, WASHINGTON, PA.)

Notice is hereby given that a schedule of distribution will be filed by the Sheriff not later than thirty (30) days from the date of the sale and that distribution will be made in accordance with the schedule unless exceptions are filed thereto within ten (10) days thereafter. No further notice of the schedule of distribution will be given.

Claims against property must be filed before above sale date.
Claims to proceed must be made before distribution.
Schedule of distribution will be filed in this office no later than thirty (30) days from sale date.
Exceptions to distribution must be filed no later than ten (10) days from the date when schedule of distribution is filed in this office.
There will be no further notice of the filing of the schedule of distribution.

LIBRA
September 23 through October 23

New vistas can be established in the year ahead if you are ardent enough about realizing your dreams. One in particular might trigger adventure, excitement and escapades that could turn your life around in happy and delightful ways.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Although you might be a bit of a dreamer, your thoughts will be positive and well placed. You'll be both imaginative and expectant, providing the power to turn wishes into reality.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Through a set of unusual circumstances not totally visible to you, a secret ambition might show some evidence of actually occurring quite soon. Nurture your dreams.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Take advantage of opportunities to mingle with as many people as possible. There are strong indications that you will meet someone who could become important to you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- It behooves you to be a bit more ambitious with regard to your major objectives. You're entering a new cycle where high achievements can become realities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Don't sit on any new ideas, because there are strong indications that you'll discover a new way of doing something pertaining to a matter of considerable importance.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- Get over your fears, and launch that long-desired commercial endeavor, especially if it's in your bailiwick. It looks as if it could be a huge success.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- An inner idealism provides a greater desire to understand reality on both a spiritual and intellectual level. You might either seek a quiet corner to ponder things or use these urges for humanitarian purposes.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- If you've been desirous of getting in shape, this is the time to begin that diet or exercise program. You'll have a better-than-average chance of staying with it until you reach your goal.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Events could revitalize your social life either through a new activity or a new group of people you meet. In either case, things will stimulate you to make positive changes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Conditions that affect your well-being and/or family relationships are about to take a turn for the better. You should see the first signs of this happening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- A better understanding can be achieved concerning your views about friends and people in general. Once you find yourself on this new wavelength, the results will be dynamic.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Fresh thinking on your part with regard to your business prospects and finances will put you on a successful path. Don't hesitate to use positive thinking to get started.

ATTENTION MON VALLEY AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

We have all watched our neighboring auto dealers and service centers close throughout this area due to the economic crisis hitting our country and especially our region.

As an auto dealer myself, I too understand what this down-sizing and closures have done to our communities and to all of us living here in Western Pennsylvania.

I am committed to remaining here in the Mon Valley to provide the best in sales and service to all of you that have been disconnected from your neighboring dealership, due to these closures and economic downsizing. We here at the C. Harper Auto Group welcome all:

General Motors
Ford
Kia
Subaru
Dodge
Jeep
Chrysler

Coming Soon!! SUBARU

Coming Soon!! MAHINDRA

Customers to our state-of-the-art facility. For service and selection you owe it to yourself to see C. Harper. We are located here in the Mon Valley area, on Route 51 South Belle Vernon, and here is where I plan to stay. We look forward to meeting you and assisting you in your sales and service needs. Stop in or give us a call. 724-929-8000 or 724-929-2900
